Carousel Canada is a haven for horses and horse lovers

On New Years Eve day I made a delightful discovery. Tucked in the countryside just a few minutes drive from Marmora and Madoc is a horse lovers paradise. Because I am a horse lover, the find was especially exciting for me. On top of finding such a place where horses are the main focus of life, I was treated with extraordinary hospitality, even though my arrival was completely unexpected.

As I turned the corner on Milk Run Road, the first thing I noticed was the new indoor arena where I found the owner, Maria Cowie, engaged in teaching two young riding students.

Rebecca Laidlaw of Madoc and Kayla Payton from Springbrook are two young girls who don't mind riding in the winter as long as they can be on a horse. Like a lot of young girls, they can hardly wait for the day when they have horses of their own.

In the meantime, they are getting a good grounding in the basics of horsemanship from the very professional Maria Cowie.

Like all good horse people, Maria stresses the importance of learning the basics, no matter what branch of riding the student may favour in the future. That, and a love of the animals and concern over their well being are the outstanding trademarks of the real rider.

Carousel Canada Arabians not only teaches riding, but also offers a full range of horse services including boarding. A boarder could not have a lovelier spot in which to ride and to have confidence that their valuable animal will be treated with both kindness and professional care.

Although any breed of horse that a boarder may have is welcome at Carousel Canada, the farm specializes as an Arabian show barn. I was treated to a tour of the beautiful stable attached to the indoor arena, and introduced to many of the Arabians and Arabian cross horses which are shown on the Arab show circuit each year by Maria's daughter Melissa.

These show horses are not just beautiful showpieces however. Maria says that they earn their way as well at the farm and are ridden in lessons by her more advanced pupils. Even beginners can ride an Arabian at Carousel Canada, and I was impressed by the quietness and the relaxed and willing nature of the horses that I saw being used for Rebecca and Kayla's lesson that day. Maria's quiet and mind approach with her horses is reflected in the way the horses respond to her, and that ought to make parents confident that their kids are really learning how to ride on these quiet, yet responsive animals.

Parents and visitors who come to watch the activities in the arena do not have to stand in the cold either. A very well appointed and comfortable lounge over-

Stirling Flying Club hold Young Eagles flying day

On Saturday, Dec. 22, the Stirling Flying Club hosted a daylong "Young Eagles" day in order to introduce young people to aviation.

The day featured 15-minute free flights in private aircraft owned by members of the Club. The flights were part of an international programme by the EAA Aviation Foundation which has a goal to take one million young persons for their flight by the year 2003, the 100th anniversary of the Wright Brothers first powered flight. The year will also mark the 50th anniversary of the EAA (Experimental Aircraft Association).

The free flights began at 9 a.m. on Saturday morning and were still going strong late into the afternoon, with a line up of youngsters waiting for their ride. The EAA came up with the pro-conference in Oshkosh, WI, and famous actor, Cliff Robertson became the first honorary chairman of the programme. Since that time

Carousel Equine Training Centre

looks the arena from the second floor, where the spectators can talk and watch in comfort.

The Carousel Canada Equine Centre is located four miles north of Highway 7, just east of the Village of Marmora.

Offering the "highest standard of horse care," they pride themselves on being both rider and horse friendly." As well as offering rider training, they will also train horses for owners who do not have the time or the experience to do so, or who are wanting to have an Arabian on the show circuit.

For the horse owner, Carousel Canada offers well-lit spacious box stalls, a tack room, hot and cold water wash rack and tacking area, the viewing lounge and bathroom facilities, the indoor 60' x 132' riding arena, fenced outdoor sand ring, individual turnout paddocks, 50 acres of pasture, and (an especially important point for the active pleasure rider) miles of scenic trails for hacking and conditioning.

Kayla Payton, who attends Sacred Heart School in Marmora loves to ride and is taking lessons at the Carousel Canada Equine Riding Centre. Here she is finishing up a lesson with trainer Maria Cowie (centre) aboard the 18-year-old Arabian mare, Sabryna. Rebecca Laidlaw of Madoc also takes regular lessons at the Centre. M. McClavey photo

For people who want to make a horse more saleable, the farm training programme helps the owner create a horse which is a pleasure to handle and ride and therefore far more saleable as well as safe. For both buying and selling a horse, Carousel Canada is a good place to investigate. This aspect of the training programme at Carousel Canada should be of special interest to parents who are looking for a safe, well-handled horse for their child.

Carousel Canada welcomes visitors and invites people interested in learning to ride to take a lesson with them. Day or evening lessons can be arranged to suit the individual schedule. Private and group lessons are offered for beginners, intermediate, advanced, or show level riders, and all ages are welcome. It's never too late to scratch that "I would like to learn to ride" itch some people have had since youth. All classes encourage the fundamentals of horsemanship, and the fellowship of riding adds to the intense enjoyment of learning the skill of riding.

"Carousel Canada would love to help you get started." For information, call Maria Cowie at (613) 472-5523.

Stirling Flying Club hosts Young Eagles

more than 380,000 young people around the world have experienced a Young Eagle flight.

The purpose of the Young Eagles programme is to encourage young people to become interested in flying, to provide young people with an opportunity to gain new perspectives on their community, their lives and the world in which they live, raise awareness of aviation career possibilities, and help them understand the knowledge they will need to become pilots.

There is some concern among pilots in this organization that the number of pilots is growing smaller because fewer young people are undergoing the training to become pilots, and the pool of active pilots has in consequence become smaller over the years. It is feared that in the near future there is a possibility of a shortage of both military and commercial pilots.

While the EAA, a non-profit organization, realizes that not every child who experiences a Young Eagles Flight will become a flyer, they hope that the flight will ignite that little spark of interest without which potential pilots will not be produced. They also stress that the volunteer pilots are experienced and carry qualifications and insurance before they can participate by taking young people into the air.

The EAA is an international association with 170,000 members and more than 1000 chapters worldwide. The headquarters for the programme is in Oshkosh. The organization also offers summer camps for kids from 12 to 18 years of age running from June through August.

After the flight at local airfields of participating pilots, the young people receive a certificate at the site of the flight offering official recognition of their participation.

Managing Breastfeeding and Working

Each family, workplace, and breastfeeding situation is unique. When a mother decides to go back to work, she does not have to give up breastfeeding. There are advantages to continuing to breastfeed:

The immune properties in breast milk continue to protect the baby from infections beyond the first year of life. Breastfeeding keeps the special bond with your baby and helps overcome some of the anxiety of being separated from your baby.

Breastfeeding is economical. It is important to find out what support is available from your work and your childcare provider.

Is there a room available to express milk?

Is there a place to store breast milk?

Do you have the time to relax and express the milk?

Can you go to the day care to breastfeed at noon?

If you are working full time, your breastfeeding routine may look something like this: Make time to breastfeed before going to work.

Breastfeed, or pump again at noon. Store expressed milk appropriately.

Breastfeed when you pick up your baby or just after you return home.

Feed frequently in the evenings. Night feeding helps to maintain milk supply.

On weekends and days off, breastfeed on demand. This helps maintain your milk supply.

Country music great says television now baffles him

Tommy Hunter Show in Belleville Jan. 23rd

By Rolly Ethier

As a 12-year-old performing in amateur variety shows around his hometown of London, Ont., not in his wildest imagination could Tommy Hunter have dreamed that such a spectacular career was lying ahead of him.

Now Canada's legendary 62-year-old Country Gentleman of song looks back with understandable pride on 50 years in show business that includes being an Order of Canada recipient and a deserving member of the Country Music Hall of Fame.

And while Tommy has cut down his once exhaustive performance schedule to 50 to 60 days with his Still Making Memories tours, concentrating, he says, on a new career as a grandfather, he'll continue to perform "as long as there's an audience still interested."

Exclusive Interview

In an exclusive telephone interview with The Courier, Hunter promises the new 2002 tour, which started in Prince Albert, Sask. in early January, follows the same old format that ran on CBC for 27 years and became the longest-running show in North America. Hunter is too much the consummate business man and expert on audience acceptance to meddle with past success.

"You might describe the show as a nostalgic trip down memory lane," points out the easy-going entertainer who will be appearing in Belleville at Centennial High School Wednesday, Jan. 23rd at 7 p.m.

Although he doesn't remember all the circumstances as a kid performer, Tommy does recall appearing on variety shows as a 10 to 12-year-old, mostly in movie theatres between twin-bill movies or at service club functions.

"They'd have magicians, step dancers, yo-yo players, whatever, and I'd get out there with a guitar and try to sing a song," remembers Tommy. "I wasn't very good mind you but I was enthusiastic."

"You would generally get a dollar for your efforts. I couldn't understand getting paid for something you loved doing and that kind of sums up my entire career."

More than anything else,

as he looks back on a half century of show business, Hunter takes particular pride on being a major influence in changing the general public concept of country music. He is credited with elevating it from the old barn and bales of hay image to a variety show for the masses even if you weren't a country music purist.

Copied Acuff Show

Hunter studied the successful format employed by the great Roy Acuff, borrowing from his travelling show model in developing the program that worked so well for him on the CBC.

"I had a chance to work with many of the all-time greats such as Eddie Arnold, Jim Reeves, Ernest Tubb, Roy Acuff, Hank Snow and Wilf Carter," says Hunter. "I also was able to introduce some of the new, up-and-coming talents like Garth Brooks, Alan Jackson, K.D. Lang, Shania Twain, Trish Yearwood and Travis Tritt. So we had the best of the new guard and mixed it with the old guard and people seemed to like it."

It was a special thrill for Hunter to work with boyhood idols like Arnold and Acuff. The latter was Tommy's number one hero.

"Everyone always told me that Acuff had the best road show in show business," said Tommy.

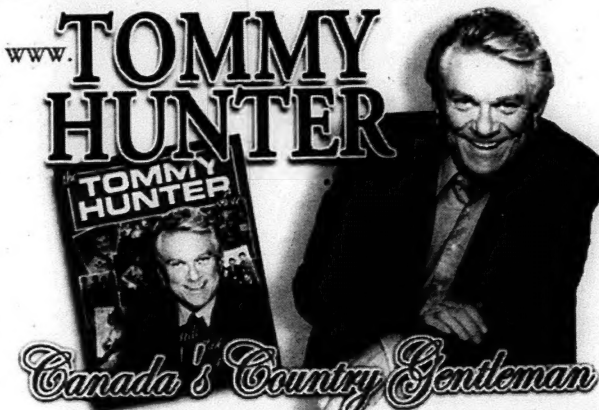

Later after he and Acuff became good friends, after Roy saw one of his CBC shows for the first time, he brought the similarity to Tommy's attention.

Acuff made the observation that Hunter must have watched one of his shows because the format was comparable.

"I readily admitted that it was a copy," stated Hunter.

"I was very fortunate. I fulfilled a childhood dream to be able to work with such giants of country music as Acuff and Arnold."

Acuff's career was also a kind of parallel of the Canadian icon. Neither managed to produce many big hits, "Wabash Cannon Ball" being Roy's major hit and Hunter's TV show theme,

"Travelin' Man" being Tommy's biggest.

"Neither Roy nor I had the long list of big hit songs like Kenny Rogers, for instance," said Hunter. "Kenny can come out and entertain for more than a whole hour simply by singing one hit after another. So our challenge was presenting a show that appealed to everyone. You simply don't have to be a diehard country fan to enjoy it. I think that was our secret. And we continue to use that kind of formula with our current memory tour."

Another key factor, said Hunter, was making sure the show was written to a high standard and that it was produced and directed well.

Co-ordinated Elements

"We took all these elements and co-ordinated them very seriously. I do believe we had the best possible people involved on the Tommy Hunter TV Show, including the best cameramen along with the finest producers and writers. Through a lot of hard work he got together the cream of the crop."

That the show lasted 27 years before the CBC pulled the plug attests to the fact that the Hunter formula worked like a charm.

Tommy says he's very proud of the television series lasting 27 years to stand as a North American record. He said it's extremely doubtful that any television show could endure for that long nowadays.

Could a variety show similar to his well-produced model survive on television today? That's a question Hunter gets asked about a lot but he doesn't have an answer.

"I just don't understand television anymore," says Tommy. "Kind of amazing, isn't it that I was on the tube for 27 years but after being away from it for 10 years I find it has changed so drastically it has become a complete mystery. My belief is never put your foot on a stage unless you clearly understand what is going on and I don't really know anymore."

He said he has been asked to consider returning to do a TV special "and my reaction is a few moments of sheer terror at the thought."

As for television itself, Hunter says he doubts that he watches any more than two hours per week, including about 90 minutes of news programming.

Many outstanding young performers used the Tommy Hunter Show as a springboard to fame and fortune including K.D. Lang and Shania Twain, both described by Tommy as great singers, but he says they would have made it to the big time without any help from him.

"I don't take any credit but it is reassuring to know that our show people were looking for good talent and obviously did a good job in finding the best performers available. To see so many of these young people becoming major international stars is a big thrill for me."

Need The Desire

Hunter admits many talented people don't make it to the big time because they simply don't have the desire to battle through the hard work necessary to get there.

"Some entertainers decide the road life is too tough for them. They don't have the commitment with no guarantee of making the big money so they quit. That's what happens too many good performers. There's a lot of fine singers out there but only those committed enough or have the spirit to endure make the grade."

As for the show in Belleville, Hunter has one guarantee for his legion of fans. The old Tommy Hunter Show will be pretty much the same format he made so popular on TV, featuring good family-type, down-home entertainment.

"If you're looking for strobe lights and smoke bombs, our show will not be for you," noted Tommy.

Hunter still likes to get close to his audience and so you can expect he'll take time to sit down and sign autographs for fans after the show while probably exchanging a few comments about the weather.

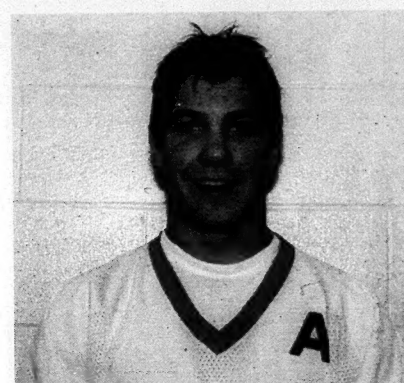

Tommy Hunter launches Cross-Canada tour with a stop in Belleville.

Monday nighters have some holiday fun on the lanes

By Art Sels

Hastings - The Monday Night Mixed Bowling League had a night of fun just before Christmas to wrap up a memorable 2001. There were no pints just lots of fun.

It was "Turkey Roll" night. On each team the player who recorded the most over their average could take home a Christmas turkey. And the winners were: Katie Wilson, Maureen Kostal, Isabella Sels, Paul Cardwell, Terry Chapman and Dave Harper.

Minor Drinking

The Northumberland OPP office was contacted by a Cramahoe area school bus service Dec. 5th, reporting that a male student on the bus was consuming an alcoholic beverage. Police remover a 15-year-old student from the bus and took him home to the charge of his parents. The OPP has issued a reminder to parents that riding a bus is a privilege and misbehaviour could result in a student losing the privilege.

The Christmas season may be filled with distractions but the Campbellford Rebels appear to have regained their focus. Looking more like the contending team General Manager Jim Peeling and coaches Tom Tanner and Ed Stapley expected them to be, Rebels put together an impressive sweep of opponents last weekend.

On home ice Dec. 14th, the Rebels showed anything but a peace on earth, goodwill to all attitude as they dumped the Picton Pirates 6-3. The Rebs followed up Sunday, Dec. 16th in Bobcaygeon with an equally impressive identical 6-3 victory over the Central League Bullets. More funding for abused children

The game against archival Picton was one of the Rebels' best efforts for a full 60 minutes this season. Sparkplug Dave Fischer was back after serving a lengthy suspension and his play stole the spotlight as he scored two goals and added two assists. His rambunctious style motivated Rebels' top scorer, Jamie McComb, whom duplicated Fischer's four-point production.

Josh Cork and Joe Curry added singles as the Rebels had the upperhand from start to finish, leaving Pirate manager Rick Rose to mutter it must be Christmas because "we just gave the Rebels two points to fill their stockings."

Rebels lost the services of starting netminder Jordan Ashley who suffered a knee injury in blocking a Picton slapshot with nine minutes to play.

Nelson Connects

On Sunday the Rebels continued their stellar play despite a lacklustre first period. The teams traded four first-period goals.

Rightwinger Gordie Nelson found the net with a low skimmer after he and linemates Joe Curry and Justin Lowe had hammed in the Bullets with considerable pressure.

Pollock Ties It

Rebels yielded two quick scores as sloppy clearing left goalie Mitch Unger at the mercy of Cal Baldwin and Kyle Begley, who made no mistake with their gift opportunities. By the first intermission Justin Pollock had tied it with a blueline slapper that goalie Andy Sachs couldn't hold.

Slowly but surely in period two the Rebels took control. First leftwinger Fischer deftly deflected another Pollock blueline blast just 3:42 into period two. Only 34 seconds remained in the second session when centre Jacob Taylor cashed in a McComb rebound.

Early in period three, Clint Ryan and Mark Hogg fired markers as the Rebels roamed the Bonrity at will. Unger, who was in the Rebel clatter marker Bonnor.

New funding for child wel

Cobourg—The Ontario government is investing an additional $47.8 million to protect children from abuse and neglect, Northumberland MPP Dr. I. announced. The new funding brings total spending on child welfare to over a year, an increase of more than 130 per cent since 1995.

Of the $47.8 million, Children's Aid Societies throughout the Central E receive up to $10.68 million.

"Our government has taken significant steps to make Ontario's child protection system stronger and even more responsive," said Dr. Galt. "We have reformed ensure that the best interests of children always come first."

Galt says the new funding will help Children's Aid Societies better deal service demands, noting that "more children need services as a result of awareness of child abuse and neglect, and stronger requirements manda Child and Family Services Act.

Since 1995, the Harris government has introduced a number of measures to child protection system, including: providing funding to support the 1,700 additional child protection workers.

Legion levee attracts 140

By Nancy Derrer

Havelock — Keri Ann Kemp was named Legionnaire of the Year at the January 1 levee held at Havelock's Royal Canadian Legion Branch 389. Ms Kemp is secretary of the Ladies Auxiliary and kitchen convenor. President Don Morley commented that the award was for her dedication and hard work — and never saying "no" to any request. Leonard Fleury was also honoured with an Appreciation Award certificate.

The annual levee was attended by about 140 who feasted at a buffet prepared by Barb McIntosh, Mae McPhee and Lois Crofts and were entertained, for the 14th straight year, by DJ Country Roads.

As well, donations were made to community groups: $1000 to the OPP for its Crimestoppers program; $1000 to the Peterborough Hamper Fund; and $500 to each of the seven local churches. Claude Pollock accepted a cheque for $500 for Community Care, donated by the Havelock Belmont Legion Seniors Club, which also donated $200 to Crimestoppers.

In 2001, the Legion Ladies Auxiliary contributed a total of $6,700 toward Legion expenses, including a new awning ($1,500), windows ($700), refrigerator doors ($3,000) and Remembrance Day ($1,500).

Once again, amazing accomplishments by a relatively small group of members that includes only 20 veterans, the average age of which is 75. Most members now are associate members (wives, sons and daughters of Legion members) and members of the ladies auxiliary. Legion Padre David Wainwright and Mrs. Wainwright were also in attendance.

Legion President Don Morley presents Keri Ann Kemp with Legionnaire of the Year award for her hard work as secretary of the Ladies Auxiliary and convenor for the kitchen at the Jan. 1 levee.

Legion Second Vice President Sandy Peters is also Honourary Award Chair, seen here presenting Claude Pollock with a cheque for $500 for Havelock Community Care. See page 9 for a third picture.

The Intrepid Snowmobiler

Respecting the trail

©2001 by Craig Nicholson. All rights reserved.

There are three primary kinds of recreational snowmobiling in Ontario: groomed trail riding, trail riding and cross country powder riding. Groomed trail riding occurs mostly on marked snowmobile trails maintained by local clubs who are members of the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs. Trail riding happens mostly on unmaintained and largely unmarked routes such as old logging trails, trapper's pathways and utility corridors. Cross country powder riding takes place anywhere there is enough snow and space.

All three styles have several factors in common: they are activities subject to the whim and unpredictability of Mother Nature. They can take a snowmobiler far from regular services and emergency assistance. When practised responsibly, each can provide hours of incredible fun. And each style requires a basic level of respect as an off-road, back country experience where the rules, expectations and outcomes are very different than on public roadways, urban recreation paths or golf course fairways. This is the great outdoors, where Murphy rules and anything can happen, especially in winter. As they say, expect the unexpected. Those who ride snowmobiles for recreational purposes fall into two broad categories: folks who snowmobile as their primary activity and people, such as ice fishermen, who use a snowmobile to get to their primary activity. In Ontario, most sled owners whose primary interest is snowmobiling ride groomed trails the majority of the time. Groomed trails cost local clubs, who are members of the Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs, a provincial total of about $21 million annually to operate and maintain. Mainly, this cost stems from a transition that has occurred in recent years from purely recreational to tourism trails, and the associated demand from riders for better and better trail quality. Fortunately, groomed OFSC trails are funded by a provincial user pay system that covers some of this substantial investment. No other trail group has the benefit of its own province-wide user pay revenues, which helps explain why snowmobilers have the only boundary to boundary trails in Ontario.

There was a time when most of those who used snowmobiles locally also resided nearby. But as the winter tourism aspect of snowmobiling has grown, more and more snowmobilers are visitors from urban areas or even from out-of-province. Many of these folks have no outdoor skills or knowledge, and approach snowmobiling as if it was just one more afternoon pastime. They treat back country trails as if elements like surfaces, grading, maintenance, angles, corners, intersections and repairs are highway quality. They imagine frequent services, regular traffic, proximate towns and imminent assistance. They even assume cellular service. And when they get into trouble, blame everything else but their own ignorance, arrogance and negligence. It's time for snowmobilers to realize Mother Nature can be one very tough customer. And that means taking survival and first aid courses, packing emergency gear and above all, learning to respect the off-road environment as a place where things can go very wrong very fast. Until next time remember to be a Safe Rider this winter. For trail condition reports check ofsc.on.ca.

Crime Stoppers' program active around the world

The dawn of the New Year signals the start of Crime Stoppers Month for programs around the world.

The official proclamation of January as Crime Stoppers Month gives politicians and law enforcement leaders the opportunity to recognize the efforts of the more than 1,000 programs in 17 countries in battling crime and helping to maintain safe communities.

Since Crime Stoppers was originated in Albuquerque, New Mexico in 1976 tips to programs on a global basis have led to the recovery of more than $1.2 billion in stolen property and the seizure of more than $3.7 billion in illegal drugs.

Callers have also been responsible for solving more than 800,000 cases, including crimes of homicide, rape, robbery and fraud.

Since the horrendous events of Sept. 11th, a great many programs have also received information that has been forwarded to task forces investigating individuals and groups that may be linked to terrorist organizations.

David Wright, Board chair, said it's important to commemorate January as Crime Stoppers Month since it gives the opportunity to highlight the success achieved by the program and acknowledge individuals and organizations that have assisted Crime Stoppers in the past year.

"Crime Stoppers is a partnership between the police, the media and the public," he said. "This is a program that works."

Det. Const. Bothwell, the program's police co-ordinator, said "Crime Stoppers is a citizen-operated organization that has become one of the most effective programs available to police to assist in the battle against crime."

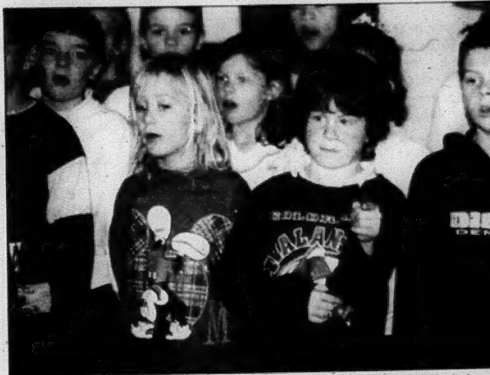

"Although the program operates at the community level it is part of a world-wide network dedicated to solving crime," he added. "Tips have assisted law enforcement agencies around the world."

Telehealth offers advice and information to callers

Quinte West--Eastern Ontario residents now have access to round-the-clock health advice through Telehealth Ontario with its expansion to the 519 and 613 area codes.

Dr. Doug Galt, MPP for Northumberland, made the announcement on behalf of Health and Long-Term Care Minister Tony Clement.

"Telehealth Ontario has been a huge success and I'm pleased that residents in the 519 and 613 area codes can now benefit by getting health advice and information from an experienced Registered Nurse whenever they need it," said Dr. Galt.

By dialing 1-866-797-0000, callers are able to reach experienced Registered Nurses who provide free, confidential service. Callers can ask nurses questions about health concerns, or describe symptoms to help determine whether they can look back after themselves at home, whether their condition can wait for a visit to their health care professional, or whether they should head immediately to an emergency room. Nurses will be able to link calls to 911 for emergencies, as well as to fax information to hospital ERs on specific patients, with the callers' consent.

"As part of our government's ongoing commitment to improve access to health services, all Ontarians now have 24-hour access to the health information they need through this innovative telephone-based health service," said Minister Tony Clement.

Telehealth Ontario was launched in the 416 and 905 area codes in September.

The exciting life of the Cooper Wild Kids

The Cooper Wild Kids Atom Girls Hockey Team have been very busy recently. They travelled to the Corel Centre in Ottawa to watch the first game of the TSN Challenge between Team Canada vs. Team USA on Tuesday, November 27. The Wild Kids were all painted up with 1/2 white and 1/2 red maple leaf faces, thanks to Sherry Burkitt and Denise Gray.

The Wild Kids were really excited, a number of them had never been to the Corel Centre, including me. It is quite an establishment. The game was quite a bit faster than I had anticipated with Canada scoring 2 goals in the first period, after that it was all USA. The Wild Kids kept cheering and were on the big jumbotron a number of times sporting their Canadian flags and cheering. Fun was had by all. Special thanks to Doug McCoy of Foley Bus Lines for donating his time and driving us to the game.

Madoc man's stolen from M Street in mida

Craig Halliday has had a tough time car-wise lately, and things don't seem to be getting any better for the Madoc man. On Monday, while he was in the Dollar DaSe store on Durham Street, he had the experience of watching his '88 Tempo head past the store and down the street without him.

Halliday, who works at the Stirling-Rawdon arena, had parked the car in front of the Pick & Save store with the keys in the ignition and the window of the vehicle down "about 3 or 4 inches". "I thought it was my brother playing a joke"

Halliday said. When he covered that the car had been taken, he flung down a police cruiser. officer radioed an cruiser and the officer second car informed him he had seen a vehicle same description which passed him going north highway 62 with two pants.

A further search for car was postponed because Halliday says, "It was for school to let out there would be buses on roads."

Halliday says the easy to identify because has a 5' whip antenna.

On October 7, 2001 the small community of the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary celebrated the fourth anniversary of their establishment in Madoc. During these four years they have endeared themselves to many in the community, especially to the members of the Sacred Heart of Mary Church, who are grateful for their presence in the area.

Their physical presence is not that easy to detect, since for the purposes of working with people in the community, the sisters do not wear their traditional habits and so cannot immediately be identified as nuns.

The spiritual director of the small group of missionary nuns is Sr. Claire who is involved in several ways in the community as well as heading up the convent in Madoc.

When they are asked why they do not "look" like nuns, their answer is that they will be identified by their Franciscan spirituality and the loving way in which they do their work and dedicate their lives to helping others both spiritually and physically.

Sr. Anna Kim, is emphatic about demonstrating her vocation as a religious through the example of her life and through her work. A nurse by profession, she works at a nursing home in the area, and says that people notice that she is "different" in a way that reflects her Christianity and the humble patience of Franciscan giving of self.

"I want them to know what I am through how I act, not how I look," Sr. Kim says.

Rather than wear clothing that separates them in any way from the people they are assisting, these missionary nuns, no matter where they are found throughout the world, dress like the average woman of the country in which they find themselves.

Sr. Claire probably gets a little weary of explaining all this to people who ask, even fellow Catholics who miss the traditional look of the religious sister, but she always is patient when she explains yet again. "Don't you worry, they will know who we are...there will be no doubt, they will know us," she smiles confidently. "It is not by what we wear, but that they will know us by our love."

And so the Franciscans began their mission work in this unlikely place, which as far as I know, never had a

The sisters are very active in the Sacred Heart Parish. They have a helping hand with the Youth Group, the Junior Liturgy, the choirs, the parish council, the Catholic Women's League, and visiting the sick and the elderly of the parish. The visiting of the sick is the special duty of Sr. Therese Lamontagne, for example.

But the most obvious way that the sisters work in the community is as part of the foundations youth drop in centre which is located right on Durham Street.

The centre is used by the students of Centre Hastings Secondary School who are invited to come and relax, eat a good lunch, socialize. Sr. Claire, who operates the centre, insists on the rules, and even though they are sympathetic to the needs of the kids, they are firm about good behavior while at the centre.

For example there is no swearing (people that swear have to put a quarter in the curse can), no talking about other people when they are not present (in other words, no gossiping or putting people down), and good behavior towards the other members of the centre.

Is the centre needed. The sisters say so. On Tuesday, Sr. Claire said, "There were 30 kids there for spaghetti, and I had to cook in on a stove where only two of the elements work. But it continued on page 2...

Centre Hastings man arrested on criminal code offences

In the early morning hours of Friday, January 4, Centre Hastings O.P.P. officers arrested a 39-year-old man for criminal code offences. The man was also wanted on an outstanding warrant for failure to appear in court as well as breach of probation relating to offences committed in Northumberland County in 1995.

Dale William Reynolds of Centre Hastings, was turned over to Northumberland O.P.P. custody, and appeared in court the same day in Cobourg Bail Court. Charges against Reynolds stemming from Centre Hastings O.P.P. have been scheduled for Belleville Provincial Court on January 31.

Windsor man receives $1000 fine for shooting Elk

Belleville - A Windsor man has been fined $1000 for mistakenly shooting an elk - a protected species that is being reintroduced in various areas of the province.

Larry Griffin, 54 has pleaded guilty to hunting elk during the closed season under the fish and Wildlife conservation Act. In addition to the fine, Griffin has voluntarily paid $1000 to the Bancroft/North Hastings Elk Restoration Project.

The court heard that Griffin mistakenly shot a bull elk in November 2001, while hunting deer in Elzevir Township north of Tweed. Griffin reported his mistake to a Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) conservation officer.

Almost 500 Elk have been reintroduced to Ontario since 1998. They are protected and cannot be hunted. The estimated cost of replacing one is about $10,000. Hunters are reminded they must be certain they are shooting at legal game before they pull the trigger.

Justice of the Peace Cathy Hickling heard the case in the Ontario Court of Justice in Belleville on January 8, 2002.

The Ministry of Natural Resources encourages the public to report natural resource violations to the local MNR office or to Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS.

Franciscan Missionaries in Madoc

is all in the nature of the work. "You have to accept people as they are," Sr. Claire says. It doesn't matter what they are wearing or how they look. "We take care of the kids who are rejected from home and rejected from others as well."

The Sisters are fully dependant on the donations of generous people in the Village of Madoc to supply the kids with food each day. She receives bread and other food from business and restaurants in the area, and donations of meat from a friendly butcher. Other donations are made by individuals and these are more than welcome. The sisters appreciate all the help they can get in this way.

The drop in centre is open each weekday from 11:30 a.m. to about 1:30 p.m. to allow all the kids who need lunch provided to come in.

In spite of their activity, the Sisters lead a spiritual life, and it is to this life that they were drawn and professed. The convent is the site of much spiritual activity, and the living room of the bungalow they live in has been converted to a little chapel. The house is the site of religious retreats, and once a month the Queen of Peace Secular Franciscan Fraternity meets in the house as well for prayer and study under the guidance of Sr. Claire who is their spiritual director.

The nuns also work with divorced and separated Catholics, as well as the local Heart of Hastings Hospice in support of the dying. And young people are not only located at the shelter, they are to be found sometimes staying with the Sisters, where they are made welcome.

There are over 8,000 of the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary over the world. They are found in 76 countries and among their number 78 nationalities are represented. On October 1, 2000 Pope John Paul II canonized 170 people who were martyred in China. Among this number were seven Franciscan Missionaries of Mary. The order came to Canada in 1892. Canada is considered as "the United States), to be a "province" of the order, and it was to the Provincial House of the Sister in Ottawa that a Madoc woman appealed when she desperately wanted members of the community to make a mission here in this rather unlikely place. About five years ago, Colleen McAlister came into the possession of a beautiful banner upon which was embroidered the seal of the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary. The banner had been purchased at a yard sale in the area, and to this day no one can tell you how it came to be here.

Mrs. McAlister found out over the Internet who the seal represented, and as a result she approached the Superior Provincial and asked for a small community to settle here. It seemed like it could not just be a coincidence that the banner had come into her hands in such a mysterious way! And so, in October of 1997, Sr. Claire and two other Sisters arrived to take up residence, quietly but determinedly going about the business of the Lord.

Center Hastings Minor Hockey News

The Atom Grizzlies played their last league game against Grafton, in Madoc, on Saturday January 5th. This team has worked very hard this season and their efforts have not gone unnoticed or unrewarded, as Saturday's game proved. This match ended in a 1-1 tie and earned the Atoms their first point of the season. Adam Hughes was responsible for the goal, assisted by Andy Moore. Watching goal tender Brian McNab stand on his back for the team is a real treat!

This guys shots on average must be one of the highest in our system. The Atoms will start their first playoff round with Percy Twp. Sunday January 13th at 4:30pm in Marmora. Best of luck and keep up the good work.

The Peeewe DD team traveled to Tamworth, over the holidays, to participate in a one year tournament. They played good hockey that day and landed themselves in the B championship against the North Frontenac Flyers. At the end of regulation time the scoreboard read 3-3, it was quite a battle! Tyson Terion banged home a break away goal the sudden death overtime period and the Peeewe were victorious!

In the first three periods the C.H. goals came from: Brandon Minns, Travis Hughes and Chad Stein. Ben Anger, Tyson Terion, Brandon Minns and Chad Stein earned assists. The Peeewe DD team will also face off against Percy Twp. in their first round. That series gets underway in Madoc this Friday night at 7:30pm.

On Saturday January 5th, the Juveniles hosted a 6 team tournament on Marmora ice and fans got to watch some excellent hockey. In the Grizzlies first game of the day the Mankford Huskies fell in a 3-0 decision earning Murray Maloney the shut-out and MVP of the game. In game two the Grizzlies trounced Creemore 11-0 this time goal tender Justin Courmyea gets the shut-out for C.H. and Kyle Broek earns MVP.

In the A Championship the Grizzlies faced off against Cayuga but this team didn't offer much competition and the Juvenile take the game 7-1. C.H. goals were scored by: Ivan Morton (2), Jason Wilson, Jesse Cassidy, Mike McCann (2 and MVP) and Tyler Jordan. Scott Acorn, Nick Pollock, Kyle Broek, Justin Cassidy, Jesse Cassidy and Mike McCann assisted the goals.

I understand these guys also won the noon shoot-out, hands down. The shoot-out is provided at all our home tournaments by the Marmora Older Boys. This a big hit with both the players and fans and Minor Hockey would to Thank the "Older Boys" for their continued support.

Can you believe that regular season is over and we are talking about the play-off rounds!? The Bantam Grizzlies start their round with Frankford Monday January 14th at 3:00pm, in Marmora. This hockey team has had a heck of a season and always treat their fans to good hockey.

Russ Howard breaches agreement

Toronto - The World Curling Tour has confirmed that the Russ Howard team including James Grattan and Grant Odishaw have elected to breach the Grand Slam Participation agreement that they signed on May 31, 2001, and enter the New Brunswick provincial play downs.

The WCT and the WCPA are extremely disappointed with the team's actions and as a result of breaching the contract the Howard team has been suspended for a minimum of two years from participating in any Grand Slam of Curling events. Further to that, the World Curling Tour also reserves the right to take legal action against Howard, Grattan, and Odishaw. The Kia Masters of Curling will continue unaffected as a last-minute replacement has been secured.

With both of Canada's Olympic representatives (Team Law and Team Martin) in attendance, the event promises to be a success.

The Alzheimer Society stresses that, amount design search, all of raised in the area: Belleville-Hastings including the City of all of Hastings County Algonquin Park from Napanee to including the C Area and CFB T all of the Bright help support programmes and education, the War son Registry, Fair Groups, Resource etc. More that with Alzheimer related dementia communities not ture increased services is expected near future.

United Way supports Meals on Wheels program in a

Tweed - Community for Central Hastings, CCCH), has received a grant from United Way of Quinte to help cover the costs associated with its Meals on Wheels, (MOW), program. Julia Gosson, Executive Director of United Way presented a $4,936 cheque to CCCH at their Tweed office on Jan 7th. Ms. Gosson explained the grant was issued through the United Way's Regional Outreach program, which covers Prince Edward and Hastings Counties. The Outreach program has a total budget of $75,000.

In expressing the agency's thanks for the financial support Pat Dobb, CCCH Executive Director, said their MOW program serves an average 65 clients weekly in four areas including Tweed, Madoc, Marmora and Stirling. That figure jumps to 80 when they also deliver frozen meals.

Ms. Dobb said their clients include many living in the rural area and volunteer drivers play a critical role in delivering the hot meals.

The grant will not only help cover transportation costs but the insulated bags used to ensure the meals arrive hot to their destination. One bag can cost up to $300.

Clients receiving the meals are charged a nominal fee, which in no way covers the cost of the food or transportation.

Ms. Gosson said the United Way was pleased to support CCCH in this initiative.

note noting "we fund programs, not agencies." In a letter sent to CCCH notifying them of their grant Ms. Gosson wrote "we received 27 applications requesting in excess of $220,000 from our available pool of $75,000. This meant our community volunteers had some tough recommendations to make

We should all count our many blessings!

Well-known Campbellford resident Murray Locke notes that all too many Canadians have a penchant for doing a lot of whining and complaining. But he clipped the following message out of a publication and offers it to the readership to put all the discontentment in perspective:

If you have food in the refrigerator, clothes on your back, a roof overhead and a place to sleep... you are richer than 75 per cent of this world.

If you have money in the bank, in your wallet, and spare change in a dishonourable... you are among the top eight per cent of the world's wealthy.

If you woke up this morning with more health than illness... you are more blessed than the million who will not survive this week.

If you have never experienced the danger of battle, the loneliness of imprisonment, the agony of torture, or the pangs of starvation...

you are ahead of 500 million people in the world.

If you can attend a church meeting without fear of harassment, arrest, torture or death... you are more blessed than three billion people in the world.

If you hold up your head with a smile on your face and are truly thankful... you are blessed because the majority can, but most do not. If you can hold someone's hand, hug them or even touch them on the shoulder... you are blessed because you can offer the healing touch.

If you can read this message, you just received a double blessing in that someone was thinking of you, and furthermore, you are more blessed than over two billion people in the world that cannot read at all.

Have a good day, count your blessings, and pass this along to remind everyone else how blessed we all are.

YOUR LOCAL REAL ESTATE AND CLASSIFIED MARKETPLACE

Quinte United Way provides start up funding for thrift shop

Tweed - Thanks to the United Way of Quinte a new venture is taking shape here. Using $5,000 in seed money the Community Care for Centre Hastings is opening a Community Thrift Shop in a former hardware store in the village. The store, which is expected to open in February, will be offering donated appliances and furniture for sale. The cheque was presented to CCCH recently by Julia Gosson, (right) Executive Director of Quinte United Way to, (from left), Jane Willcombe, accounting; Wally Savkins, fund-raising committee chair and Sharon Mindle, volunteer coordinator. The shop will serve the entire Centre Hastings County area.

More funding for abused children

Cobourg—The Ontario government is investing an additional $47.8 million this year to protect children from abuse and neglect. Northumberland MPP Dr. Doug Galt has announced. The new funding brings total spending on child welfare to over $829 million a year, an increase of more than 130 per cent since 1995.

Of the $47.8 million, Children's Aid Societies throughout the Central East Region will receive up to $10.68 million.

"Our government has taken significant steps to make Ontario's child protection system stronger and even more responsive," said Dr. Galt. "We have reformed the system to ensure that the best interests of children always come first."

Galt says the new funding will help Children's Aid Societies better deal with increased service demands, noting that "more children need services as a result of greater public awareness of child abuse and neglect, and stronger requirements mandated under the Child and Family Services Act."

Since 1995, the Harris government has introduced a number of measures to improve the child protection system, including: providing funding to support the hiring of more than 1,700 additional child protection workers. This is a staffing increase of 77 per cent for children's aid societies.

There has also been improved child protection worker training, and the implementation of new standards for investigation and response for children at risk.

Frustrated Rebels run into hot goalie in loss to Napanee

Napanee—The Campbellford Rebels appeared to deserve better fate, holding an edge territorially, but it was the hometown Napanee Raiders that prevailed.

Raiders skated to a 6-1 victory and the score would tend to indicate a one-sided victory. Far from it. In the opening period the frustrated Rebels outshot the Raiders 18-8, yet came out on the short end of a 3-0 count.

Raider netminder Eric Ostrander came up with a giant-killing performance, denying the Rebels trio of Jamie McComb, Jacob Taylor and David Fischer time and time again. At the other end, Rebels' newly-acquired goalie John Cranston was beat in close twice by Tony Pigden and Matt Little while Jon Hill tallied a blueline slapper the netminder would like to have over.

In essence, the first period was the hockey game, only Jacob Taylor was able to get the puck past Ostrander.

Face Uphill Battle

The loss firmly entrenched the Rebels in fourth place in the Empire League junior C standings, two points behind the North Frontenac Flyers who also have a game in hand.

Flyers visit the Rebels Saturday night at 7:30 in a crucial contest in what amounts to a proverbial four-point. It's a must-win situation for the Rebels or in all likelihood, the Campbellford skaters will face the Amherstview Jets in a best-of-three series for a berth in the playoffs.

$5000 R.I.D.E. grant will boost local road checks

Funds will be used for blitzes in Township

Asphodel-Norwood - The Township will apply for $5000 in R.I.D.E. program funding that can only be used for blitzes in Asphodel-Norwood.

The application for the program, which runs from April 1, 2002 until Feb. 28, 2003, has to be submitted by Jan. 20 in order for the municipality to qualify for the dedicated funding.

The R.I.D.E. applications this year are being completed in the name of the municipal Police Service Board representative, says Senior OPP Constable Deb Belisle.

Following this procedure means the potential funding has increased to $5000 and can only be used in Asphodel-Norwood, Const. Belisle says.

The $5000 will allow the OPP to conduct seven dedicated R.I.D.E. checks each year in Asphodel-Norwood during the course of the year. In the past, a smaller pool of funding had allowed just two R.I.D.E. patrols.

Senior Const. Belisle says the paid duty officers are dedicated to the R.I.D.E. patrol and cannot be called away for other service calls.

Each municipality in Peterborough County will apply for R.I.D.E. funding and

December RIDE stats...

Charges even, suspensions down

Peterborough Cty. - Peterborough County OPP charged nine people with impaired driving during December's R.I.D.E. blitz. The total matches last year's figure, but in 2001 police checked 262 more vehicles during the month of December.

During last month's R.I.D.E. blitz - which included regular detachment programs and dedicated blitzes funded by special municipal grants - police stopped 3662 vehicles and conducted 88 screening device tests. In all they issued 12, 12-hour suspensions, seven administrative licence suspensions and laid the nine impaired charges.

One driver was charged with failure-refusal to take the screening test.

Last year during the same period police checked 3400 vehicles and conducted 75 screening tests. In 2000 they handed out 21, 12-hour suspensions and laid nine administrative licence suspensions.

There were also nine impaired charges.

25th anniversary celebration features excellent mini-show

By Madeline Simpson

Over 50 members and guests attended the annual potluck dinner at Jenkins Hall Dec. 3rd for the final meeting of 2001 for the Campbellford and District Horticultural Society.

A sumptuous dinner included the 25th Anniversary Cake, as the Society celebrated a quarter century of activity in the area.

President Glenn Bennett gave a brief outline of the history of the Society, noting that the first meeting took place in January 1976 with Dorothy Milne as president and 154 charter members present. Monthly meetings with mini-shows have been held at Jenkins Hall ever since. The red maple planted at Christ Church was placed there by the Society to recognize Dorothy Milne's contributions.

Lois Bennett, who was pleased with the 43 entries for their quality and creativity, judged the Mini-Show. Examples included Santa's present wrapped in a leaf of a house corner plant, a birch bark tag, cones and berries; jingle bells—a door decoration, with one being made from red raspberry vines in the shape of a star, decorated with garden sage and cranberries.

Trim the Tree consisted of Chinese lanterns bunched in threes and sprayed with a glitter. Christmas Dinner was an arrangement of natural materials and candles. The most unique one was made of layers of white kale leaves anchored in oasis with candle as centre, surrounded by calendula.

Photography prizes were presented for the Nov. contest with 18 entrants with 140 entries. Winner was Mary Weilandt with 28 points; Nancy Boivin, 23; and Hilde Kalweit, 22. Best overall prizes went to Pat Isted, first; Jayne Williams, second; and Mary Weilandt, third.

Mini-show prizes went to all participants throughout the year but first prize and the trophy went to Tine Lisle with Diane Francisco, second, and Muriel Godden, third.

Two members who have served faithfully, contributing knowledge and plants to the Society were honoured with a certificate from the OHA for meritorious service. They were Robert and Tine Lisle.

A slate of officers for 2002 was presented, with new director Lemoine Hodge welcomed.

Jean Tilney explained the Green Street Canada program, to which the Society will contribute.

Speaker Tracy Rowe

showed some easy and inexpensive ways of decorating with evergreens and cranberries. First, fill a decorative bowl half full of water, add cedar or spruce twigs and cranberries and finish

Weight-in begins Wednesday, Jan. 23 from 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Foundation office and the contest will continue for 16 weeks. You can register in advance on day of the first weigh-in by calling the CMH Foundation at 653-4343, ext. 2104, a fax at 653-3430 or e-mail—cmhfoundation@heydon.com. All weights are kept strictly confidential, even from your own team members.

The one-time cost for a team of five is $50. Teams can be made of ladies, mixed—perhaps a family team or a workplace team. Choose a catchy name for your team and start losing. The program is fun, however, and not a registered weight program. No formal advice or weight loss materials are included. Last year the winning team lost a total of 59.5 pounds.

"Here at the Hospital, the teams had fun trying to sabotage their competition's home made cookies, etc. Everyone involved had a lot of fun with the contest," Wendy Warner of the CMH Foundation.

For those preferring to work alone, individuals can register at $12. Last year's winner lost a total of 47 pounds.

"We're excited about reviving the contest," says Nancy Allanson, Fundraising Assistant for the CMH Foundation. "Team spirit was certainly evident as well as friendly competition between the teams."

Percy Atom A's wrap up regular season with tie

Trent Hills - The Percy Bulldogs Atom A's wrapped up their regular season schedule with a 4-4 draw against Colborne Jan. 3.

Kelly English opened the scoring for the Dogs in the first with Nathan Dudley and Sawyer Michel assisting.

The second saw Justin Massey pop in a goal with Brandon Ingram earning an assist. The final two goals of the match for Percy came in the third frame with John Boyle and Dudley ripping the twine. Ryan Lean, Dudley, English and Mike Deschamps picked up assists.

The Dogs will be kept busy as they battle for top position at the prestigious Liftlock Tournament in Peterborough starting Jan. 16. Good Luck, Percy!

Things look good for Monday nighters

By Art Sels

Hastings - The Monday Night Mixed Bowling league created a lot of excitement to start a new year. You get the feeling that some bowlers are falling in love with the pins - they look at them and the pins are falling before the ball hits them. What I'm saying is that it's a night of fun.

Bantam Hornets fall 4-1 to Hawks

Asphodel-Norwood - The J.J. Stewart Bantam Hornets fell 4-1 to the Tweed Hawks during pre-Christmas exhibition action.

This was the first time the Hornets had played East Division power Tweed which hasn't lost a league game this season. Norwood missed a few good scoring chances and Tweed was quick to jump on any mistakes.

Scoring for Norwood was Ray Bradley. Replying for the Hawks were Tyson Ball, Darren Roshette, Jack Down and Jerry Theafate.

Stolen Laptop Computer

Police were contacted Jan. 3rd with regard to a young person being found in the possession of a laptop computer not belonging to him. Police arrested a 15-year-old boy at a Campbellford residence for offences of break, enter and theft, possession of stolen property and breach of probation. The laptop had been stolen from a Trent Hills residence.

Novice A Bulldogs win 7-3

Percy - After two very disappointing losses to powerful Grafton over the holidays, the Percy Novice A Bulldogs travelled to the beautiful new Keeler Centre in Colborne and came home with a 7-3 win.

The Bulldogs got goals from Eric Hudson, Brendon McDonald, Lochlin Bicknell, Ryan Crowley and Jake Thompson.

The following week, Colborne was in Warkworth for a re-match. Hat tricks by Thompson and Crowley dashed Colborne's hopes as the Dogs pulled off a 6-2 win. Picking up assists were Tom Zapletal, Peter Franken and Hudson.

Holding down the defence were Jared Lowe, Mitchell Allanson and Sam Allen. Once again, goalie Cassidy Curtis was outstanding in net.

Next, Percy travelled to Frankford for some exciting action skating to a hard-fought 3-2 win. The team got goals from Crowley, Zapletal and Hudson with assists to Thompson, McDonald and Franken.

Finally, the Bulldogs took the "A" tourney title in Otonabee. Percy skated to a 10-1 win over Oshawa to open things up then overpowered St. Anne's 15-0. They ended the tournament with a 6-2 win over the host Wolves. Way to go, Dogs. Hats off to Cody Wellman who stepped up to assist the Novice A's in the tourney.

Coach John Crowley is very pleased with the way this young team is passing the puck and setting up plays.

Sr. Tykesters show off their new skills

Marmora - The Norwood Auto Centre/Birdsall Beach Trailer Park Sr. Tykes were in Marmora Dec. 29 for the Centre Hastings Huskies' opening against a strong Stirling club. The Hornets were no match for the speedy Blues. Scoring the lone Norwood goal and earning MVP honours was Evan Calder.

Next, the Hornets faced the Havelock Hawks in a game of two evenly-matched clubs. In the end, Norwood would prevail edging their foes in a tight match 3-2. Scoring the natural hat trick was Kevan McDougall who also earned MVP honours.

The win put the squad into the "C" final against Cobourg. This also proved to be another mis-match for the improving Hornets. McDougall had the hat trick again with Samuel Gerow skating away with MVP honours.

The highlight of the tournament for the Hornets was the skills competition held at high noon. Representing Norwood proudly and to the best of their abilities was shooter Kevan McDougall and goalie Cameron Klompemaker. Klompemaker was able to skate away with the top goalie trophy, stopping eight of the nine shots he faced.

McDougall as in the thick of the shout-out and did very well.

The next day the club was at home to face the Otonabee #3 Wolves in a game with plenty of end-to-end action that it was a very exciting for everyone.

After possibly outplaying the Wolves the Hornets could not get one past the Keene stopper and ended up on the short-side of a 3-0 score.

The Hornets used the four matches as a tune-up for their own "Welcome to 2002" Sr. Tyke tourney on Jan. 5.

Bantam Hornets get nice playoff tune-up

Asphodel-Norwood - Norwood's J.J. Stewart Motors bantam Hornets got a nice playoff tune-up edging Immaculate Conception 2-1. The Hornets will face I.C. in the opening round of the upcoming OMHA playdowns.

Sam Chung gave Norwood the win with a third period powerplay marker assisted by Kevin Gourley and Philip Darrington. David Andrew, from Josiah Oliver and Aaron Main, opened the scoring.

The Hornets played a very solid and well-executed game limiting I.C.'s scoring opportunities.

When you enter a town by road, a welcoming sign usually says something like: "Smith Town Population: 215", so you know not to blink. Rarely have I seen any similar posting on a snowmobile trail. There could be signs for miles back indicating that the destination lies ahead, but how do I know for certain that I've actually arrived?

Many's the time, I've buzzed right on by, which I've only been able to subsequently deduce from the sudden absence of any more arrows pointing to "Smith Town" ahead. Usually it doesn't matter much, except when I'm low on gas or have a hotel reservation back there. So I've developed a keen eye for the numerous clues that a population center is nearby... Unfortunately, the most prevalent one is often the surprising disappearance of almost all destination and service signs, as if I've just entered the black hole of hospitality markers. Whether local residents don't want to encourage visitors or simply assume that everyone automatically knows where to go, the result is that it takes far too long to get to services in many towns, to say nothing of finding the place itself if there are no indications on the trail. So when a well-signed trail suddenly becomes markerless, I'm tempted to take the next right and hope for the best. Especially if road crossings become more and more frequent. More roads usually mean more houses and humans, both necessary to make a town. If in doubt, there are two sure trail indicators for an upcoming hub. One is that more local riders mean rougher trails. Ergo, if a table-top ride rapidly deteriorates into a bump-fest, then I may be close. They don't call it mogul-city for nothing! A second possible clue is that the pure white stuff on the trail abruptly becomes dirty from frequent traffic. Of course, this could also mean an upcoming mudhole or that the snow's melting. But if this phenomenon combines with an increase in solo riders, it's a good bet. Unless I start to pass many angry people on foot, looking a lot like they just fell off the back of sleds! But there are four sure ways I know that a town is at hand. Most times the snowmobile trail will take the scenic route through the local dump, so I watch for circling crows and seagulls to lead the way. Failing that, I know I'm close when the trail becomes bare pavement instead of snow, indicating that the snow ploughs have been doing their best to keep me out. At the same time, being unexpectedly chased by a barking dog is also a strong hint that civilization is nigh. Finally, I can be dead certain of having arrived at a town when I stop in front of a building with a sign that reads: "Municipal Offices". Especially if it's surrounded by businesses and streets and residents looking at me as if I've come from outer space! Until next time remember that snowmobilers care about the environment too. For trail condition reports check ofsc.on.ca

MNR sets 5-year closure on walleye

Pembroke—In an effort to restore the walleye fishery, the Ministry of Natural Resources has implemented a five-year walleye fishing season closure on Golden Lake in the Pembroke area starting Jan. 1st, 2002.

The Golden Lake Walleye Committee—an organization comprising tourist operators, residents and anglers—recommended the closure to the Ministry after extensive public consultation and study. The MNR also expressed its appreciation for the assistance of the Algonquins of Pikwakanagan for the assessment information they recently provided on the lake's walleye population.

Golden Lake was a renowned walleye lake in the 1970s but the walleye population declined in the late 1980s because of water quality, habitat changes and over fishing. The fishery has not been able to recover naturally.

Fish stocking is expected to start next year in an effort to help restore a naturally reproducing walleye population. Studies have shown that temporarily closing and restocking the fishery along with introducing a minimum size limit and a reduced catch-and-possession limit when the season is reopened can help to ensure a self-sustaining walleye population in the future.

The MNR encourages

anglers their n glers n perch, other t Lake.

Jr. Tyke Hornets make great strides

Asphodel-Norwood - The Norwood Woodling Apartment Junior Tykes continue to make great improvements.

On Dec. 19 the squad faced off against the Douro Dukes in Warsaw and battled to a 5-5 draw. Snapping in goals were Joey Walsh, Travis Bennett (2), Kurt Peters and Mitchell Barr. Earning assists were Kurt, Jakob Payne and Alex Barrett.

It was a back-and-forth game with Norwood in a festive "giving" mood with Brent Smith potting his first career goal from the blue line to "help" give Douro the tie late in the match.

Earlier in the week the team hosted the Millbrook Mytes and skated to a 3-3 tie. Kurt Peters fired in a pair of goals with Travis Bennett adding a solo effort.

The team got strong games from all players -- Liam Hunter, Jacob Bennett, Alex Barrett, Brent Smith, Mitchell Barr, Jacob Cailles, Joey Walsh, Jakob Payne, Daniel Bennett, Brett Smale, Carly Elmhurst, Travis Bennett and Kurt Peters.

The players continue to improve their skating and puck handling skills.

The team welcomed Santa Claus to the rink Dec. 23 during a special family skate then hosted Peterborough Immaculate Conception on Dec. 30 welcoming back former Hornet Noah Bucholtz who has since moved to Peterborough, L.C. won the game 11-7 during a game with furious end-to-end action. Norwood played strongly despite the fact they had only nine skaters due to the Christmas holidays.

Game features included Brett Smale, Liam Hunter and Jacob Cailles with their strongest games of the season. They were continually involved in the play. Jakob Payne stopped a breakaway; Carly Elmhurst scored her first career goal during a goalmouth scramble. Rounding out the scoring for the Hornets were Kurt Peters, Mitchell Barr, Daniel Bennett, all with singles, and Joey Walsh with the hat trick.

Break-and-Enter
Five seasonal residences on McDonald Road in Cramahe Township were discovered broken into Jan. 2nd. The break-ins are believed to have occurred between Dec. 28th to 30th, 2001. Owners were called in to determine what, if any, property was removed.

27th Annual Cooper Winter Carnival

The 27th annual Cooper Winter Carnival is fast approaching, and it should be fun for the whole family. We have many things in store for young and old alike, or just the young at heart. The Cooper Wild Kids and their families will be co-ordinating this event with the support and help of a number of people from the Cooper community.

To kick off the Carnival on Friday night the Cooper Remington Women's Institute will be serving the roast beef Carnival Supper with all the trimmings. Dinner will be served starting at 5 p.m. until 7 p.m. The cost of this delicious supper will be $8 for adults and $4 for children. You really can't beat that price, and you can't beat a home cooked meal with homemade desserts at that price.

On Saturday starting at noon the Kids Events will start. This year, because of the possibility of lack of snow, we are planning GT Racing, face painting, and games, possibly a tug-of-war, skating and much more. This event is still in the works so come out and have some fun. Last year we had over 100 kids; hopefully we will have a great turn-out again. We will be serving hot dogs and a drink as well as a treat bag for the kids to go home with for $2. Special thanks to Glenn Rollins for the use of his property for tobogganing.

Sunday morning starting at 8 a.m. the dads from Cooper Wild Kids hockey team, with the help of many community members, will be flipping flapjacks and serving sausages to all the hungry snowmobilers and 4-wheelers: The Cooper Wild Kids Girls Hockey Team will be on hand clearing tables and serving drinks to get you on the trail quickly.

The snowmobile/ATV

Poker Run begins at 9 a.m., so get an early start, providing we have enough snow this year, we welcome ATVs. It is strongly recommended that if you are 4-wheeling, please come after 10:30 a.m. behind the snowmobilers. We will have chili and hot drinks available when you get back from the Poker run so make sure you check in and see if you have the highest hand. Cash prizes will be awarded at the end of the day. We will also be selling 50/50 tickets with proceeds going to the Cooper Wild Kids Girls Hockey Team.

Special thanks to the Past Cooper Winter Carnival Committee and the Cooper Remington Women's Institute for all of their help and support with this upcoming 27th Annual Cooper Winter Carnival. It makes it a lot easier to run these events with your help.

From the Cooper Wild Kids and their families.

Bruce Langmaid repeats 2000 victory in the Eldorado Gold Cup

Bruce Langmaid of Blackstock Ontario was the winner of the 2002 Eldorado Gold Cup Dog Sled Race. Langmaid repeated his win of 2000 when he also won the cup. Langmaid completed the 60 mile race in three hours and 58 minutes. Presenting the cup is Sheryl Blackburn representing Holburn Farms who donated the trophy.

The junior champions in the four to nine-year-old class were the brothers Brad and Ian Stein. Mushing with a one dog sled, Brad took first place and Ian (seated) came in second. A second place is nothing to sneeze at, especially when you are only four years old. Brad finished his one lap of the baseball diamond at the Madoc Township Community Centre in 37.17 seconds, and Ian followed with a respectable 46.71. The dog in the shot is Andre who belongs to the boys' father, Calvin Stein.

The Eldorado Dog Sled Races are over for another year, and despite the limited amount of snow compared to previous years the event drew a good number of enthusiastic mushers. The musher who came the longest distance to compete was Rene Marchildon who travelled from South River, Ontario, and Paul Andre Charlois who came from Fasset, Quebec. Rene stood fifth in the adult races held on Saturday, and in addition to a good standing, she was the winner of a pair of crochet pillows. The winner of the first prize, a hand-made afghan, was Susan Tally.

There were 24 mushers competing in the main races on Friday and Saturday, January 12 & 13. The first place winner was Bruce Langmaid who completed the first day's 35 mile run in a time of two hours, 22 minutes and 38 seconds. His eight-dog team completed the 25 mile second leg of the race on Saturday in a time of one hour, 36 minutes, and 17 seconds, giving Langmaid a total time of three hours 58 minutes, and 55 seconds.

In second place was the team of Boyd Wilson, who completed the first race in two hours, 31 minutes and 50 seconds and the second race in one hour 39 minutes, and 33 seconds for a total time of four hours, 11 minutes, and 23 seconds. Boyd was also the highest-ranking competitor who comes from Hastings County.

Third place winner was the team of Pauline Sunman who completed the first race in two hours, 38 minutes and 11 seconds, the second in one hour, 39 minutes, and four seconds for a final time of four hours, 17 minutes, and 15 seconds. Pauline was also the top female musher of the event.

The top novice musher was Bev Vanastine, who came in 9th in the 24-entry field.

There was a good field of competitors for the Little Nippers races for youngsters, which also took place on Sunday. The first event was a race for ages 4-9 years which had 18 entries. The winners of this race were Brad Stein, Ian Stein, and Christel Fredette. The young mushers had to complete one lap of the course with a one dog sled. Brad Stein completed the course in 37 seconds. His brother Ian completed it with a time of 46 seconds. Christel's time was 47 seconds. The other children competing in the race were Ryan Hennessey, Colin French, Wesley Wilman, Brady Bateman, Eli Golton, Josie Wilman, Madison French, Jordan Grills, Madison Bateman, Brittany Henry, C.J. Tipping, Earl Derry, Stephanie Davis, Cynthia Fredette, and Briannag Tipping.

The second division of junior races was the two dog teams for 10 to 14-year-olds. The winner of this race was Sarah Smith with time of 35 seconds. In second place was the team of Andrew Shaw with a time of 37.7 seconds. Third place winner was Melinda Wilman with a time very close to that of Andrew - 37.87 seconds.

Besides Sarah, Andrew and Melinda, the field of 10 to 14-year-olds included Madison Green, James Dale, Jacob Golton, Mac Green, Ashley Stein, Derek Stein, Amanda Toews, and Shannon Dafeo.

The senior races began and finished at the Township Building in Eldorado. The course ran north on the first leg north across Rimington Road, Fox Road, Barker Road, Bannockburn Road, Wolf Lake Road, Stoney Settlement Road and Cleveland Road. Returning south, the course looped east just south of Wolf Lake Road to a point just west of Cooper Road and continued south until veering west to the finish line. The second leg of 25 miles was a shortened version of this.

The Eldorado Gold Cup Dog Sled Race began at the suggestion of Don McEwan, who acted as the "vet" for the dogs during the race.

Don was already a musher, having Alaska and other U.S., when he that it would be to have a race. He suggested the Stein and a few the first event ized in 1997, participating in Since then Cal come more an volved in the sp the honour of se sons Brad and first and second Nipper 4 to 9-y this year.

Community Development Council of Centre Hastings offers "Good Food" to everyone

Are you cost conscious and eager to offer a good healthy diet to your family?
Do you want to learn more about how to select good food for your table? Then you might be interested in the Good Food Box programme which is offered to every resident through the Community Development Council of Centre Hastings.

Advertised as a programme "for people who want to stretch their food dollar," the Good Box plan offers boxes of food which are paid for, but at a lower cost than retail. The idea is to both give people a deal and to educate them on good eating habits.

Here's how the programme works. Residents can go to their local Community Development office and register to get on the plan. Each Good Food Box will cost them $15 which is paid once each month to the volunteer co-ordinator at the Community Development

The Community Resource Centre is in this building at 108 Russell Street N. in the Village of Madoc. People who are interested in the Good Food programme should go here to get information and to pick up their boxes. McClavey photo

Council office. In Madoc
this office is located at 108
Russell Street in the attractive new brick building located there on the west side of the street just north of the Becker's store.

Community Development
buys food in bulk and these items are then placed in the boxes which are assigned to individuals. Buying in bulk helps the Council increase their purchasing power and pass the savings on to their clients, whom they refer to as "Smart Shoppers."

There are no restrictions
such as demonstrated proof of "need" applied to individuals living in Centre Hastings seeking access to the programme. Collective buying from local growers and grocers helps families to reduce their food costs (and who doesn't want that?) and meet the standards for healthy eating.

There are several of these programmes in operation through the Community Development Centre. The first of these is the Good Food
Box. Smart shoppers pay their $15 once each month to buy a Good Food Box. In this box they will get a supply of fresh, healthy, nutritious fruits and vegetables for less than they would pay in a store. The payment is due by the 8th day of each month and the Smart Shoppers can pick up their food box on the 3rd Thursday of each month.

An example list of the foods clients will find in their Good Food Box is the following: three pounds of bananas, two pounds of carrots, two pounds of onions, one green pepper, 10 pounds of potatoes, one head of lettuce, one celery, one broccoli, one pound of tomatoes,
one pound of mushrooms,
one lemon, three pounds of apples, one head of garlic,
six oranges, one cucumber,
one bunch of green onions.
Another Good Food programme is the Good Lunch

Box. The Good Lunch Box
also costs $15 per month and consists of healthy breakfast, lunch, and snack foods at considerable savings.

Good Lunch Boxes are packed on the second Thursday of the month. Good Food Boxes are packed on the 3rd Thursday of the month. Both boxes can be picked up at the Centre Hastings Community Resource Centre located on the second floor of 108 Russell St. N.

More encouraging news
- boxes are not limited to one per customer. People may order as many boxes as they wish. They may even share the cost of the boxes with another person.

A sample list of the items in the Good Lunch Box is:
one box of Rice Krispies, one 1.86 L. jug of Beatrice orange juice, one box of Nutri Grain Bars, one kg. jar of Skipper peanut butter, one jar of Smucker's jam, one can of Tuna, one Delmonte Tetra Pack, one box of Value Plus popcorn, one package of Mr.
Noodles Chicken, one package of marshmallows, one package of bagels, two loaves of bread (one white, one whole wheat).

Even babies can benefit from the Good Box programme. The Good Baby

Community Care opens Thrift shop in Tweed

By Wilma Bush

The area Community Care volunteers continue to work at ways of raising funds to help the seniors of Marmora, Madoc, Stirling and Tweed.

Their latest project is a new Thrift Shop to be opened in Tweed in February. Volunteers from the four communities will staff this and will have nice displays of used furniture, dishes, books, cookware for sale.

Those who have items to be donated will contact Community Care that will have someone visit to determine if the goods are acceptable. Then, it will be picked up by a volunteer and delivered to Tweed. Look over the items in your home that are in good condition and you no longer use and give Community Care a call. You will be helping a great cause. If something is broken which can be fixed, the volunteers are willing to work on these items.

Over time, when suitable space becomes available, and it does not interfere with other business in the community, it is hoped to have similar shops in the other villages.

Community Care has become an important part of each community. It is in charge of Meals on Wheels, Frozen Dinners (that must be ordered by February 4th for delivery that month), Reassurance Calls and Visits to seniors, when requested, transportation, Diners' Club dinners monthly in each community - delicious dinners, come out and give them a try, Blood Pressure Clinics once a month.

Each community has an office and gift certificates are available. Drop in and say "Hello!" Visitors and volunteers are always welcome.

Weedless Wednesday

Free classes to help smokers quit are being offered at the Healthy Lifestyles station at the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit. The series will run three consecutive Wednesday days at the Belleville office of the Health Unit at 179 N. Park Street from 7 to 9 p.m. The first class is on Jan. 23 - "Weedless Wednesday" during National Non-Smoking Week. To register for the series call 966-5513, ext'n 2.

"One of the goals of the National Non-Smoking Week is to help smokers quit," Joan Black, Public Health Nurse with the Health Unit, said. "Weedless Wednesday" classes are chosen to launch the series because it promotes 'one day at a time' approach to quitting smoking."

"The 'one day at a time' approach appeals to smokers who may be discouraged at the thought of a tire week - or lifetime - without cigarettes, but who may be able to cope with one smoke-free day," adds Heidi McGuire, Health Unit. Quitting smoking is not easy, McGuire and I say that like everything important in life, quitting smoking takes some preparation, skills, and some practice. Classes offer smokers and activities so they can develop the skills needed to quit. Included in the series is a pamphlet by pharmacist Michael Lafferty about pharmacist aids to help smokers kick the habit.

YOUR LOCAL REAL ESTATE AND CLASSIFIED MARKETPLACE

Frontenac Celebration--High-scoring Derek Mack (14) of the North Frontenac Flyers celebrates with upraised stick after his team opened the scoring in last Saturday night's Empire League junior C game in Campbellford. Goalie John Cranston of the Campbellford Rebels watches in vain as the puck gets past him. Rebels' James McConnell (3) and Ryan Binkley (6) are caught out of position on the play. ## Peeling takes over Rebel helm in loss to Fronts

Disappointed former coaches step aside

Campbellford—Although the Napanee Raiders have been front-runners in the Empire League junior C race most of the regular schedule, they have good reason to be looking over their shoulder in a concerned manner.

With the playoffs just around the corner, the North Frontenac Flyers appear to have the momentum in their favour and are making a concerted bid to overtake the Raiders and finish on top of the standings.

Frontenac gave a sample of that impressive form last Saturday night on Campbellford ice when they dumped the reeling Rebels 6-4.

It was a Rebel team with a new look, general manager Jim Peeling taking over as the new coach replacing the tandem of Tom Tanner and Ed Stapley, who stepped aside in the hopes someone else could rekindle the players' desire on the ice. Tanner and Stapley have both expressed disappointment at their inability to get the Rebs motivated.

Following their resignation, the Rebels' executive held an emergency meeting and Peeling decided to handle the team on the bench for the remainder of the season. Peeling says local coaches John Locke and Jeff Petherick will help with practices while Genial Jim will utilize the training staff of Jeff Fleming and Jeff Doucette for behind-the-bench duties.

Rebel-Wreckers
 Rebels played only once during the past week, suffering a tough decision to the surging Flyers, who impressed local fans as an aggressive, disciplined crew. In the early going, the Fronts took the play to the Rebels. The Fronts' first line of Derek Mack, Paul Amodeo and Cory Thompson were the main Rebel-wreckers, counting five goals in all.

Rebel puckstopper John Cranston played a solid game, keeping the Rebels close but the turning point came midway through the second period when Rebel forward Jamie McComb was handed a double minor in response to some heavy Frontenac checking tactics. Mack, the league's top scorer, and Amodeo quickly capitalized to pack the Flyers off to an insurmountable 5-2 lead.

But the Rebels, to their credit, didn't quit and made it a one-goal contest, as they stormed back to trail 5-4 before Thompson tallied an empty netter to clinch it.

Rebel marksmen were Justin Lowe, Jacob Taylor, McComb and Jeremy Heffernan. Although the Rebels gave it their all netminder Rob Laurin in the North Frontenac cage wouldn't give up the equalizer.

Ice Chips: Saturday, Jan. 18th the Rebels host the Central League leading Uxbridge Bruins. Next Thursday, Jan. 22nd at 7:45 p.m. the Rebels host, in all probability, their first round playoff opponent in the Amherstview Jets. It is hoped the faithful will turn out to cheer on the hometown skaters for this rate midweek start. Jamie McComb is the lone Rebel sniper in the league's top 10 scorers with a total of 24 goals and 23 assists for 47 points. The Flyers' Derek Mack, with 61 points, including a league-leading 34 goals, is the scoring leader while linemate, Paul Amodeo, is in second place with 58 points. Two Picton Pirate players, Adam Walsh and Shane Cutler, with 53 and 50 points, respectively, occupy third and fourth place in the scoring race.

Norwood pee wees reach "A" finals in Tamworth

Tamworth - The Norwood Pee Wee Hornets came home from the Stone Mills Tournament in Tamworth with "A" finalist medallions.

In their opener, the squad faced the unknown when they skated out against North Frontenac. Tyler Oliver was superb in net coming up with a 7-0 shutout win for the Hornets.

Scoring twice was Sawyer Gerow with Tyler McIlmoyle, Jeb Huggins, Brad Walsh, Baron McDonald (short-handed) and Chris Ridgeway all adding single markers. Assistants went to Ridgeway, Jordan Wrightly, Huggins and Gerow. Winger Greg Kavish was instrumental in the win.

In game two, the Hornets prevailed 3-1 over the host Tamworth Sabres club in a much tougher battle. Goalie Stuart Hall came up big for the team. Scoring two again for Norwood was Gerow with Ronnie Hughes adding a single.

Playmaking Help
 Helping out on the goals were Ridgeway, Josh Clouston and Huggins. A great effort was put forth by defenders Darren Rioux and Ben Brackenridge when Ridgeway left the game with a major penalty late in the match.

The semi-final match proved to have a debilitating

Curl For Kids was another big success

By Bill Freeman

Asphodel-Norwood - At least $2,000 was raised during this year's highly-successful Curl For Kids bonspiel at the Norwood Curling Club.

A full slate of teams in two draws faced off during the annual event that is held to raise funds for Camp Oochigeas, a summer camp for young people with cancer.

It costs $700 per week to send one child to the camp at Roseau College so the Asphodel-Norwood contribution is significant.

Donations of $200 each from the Norwood and Hastings Lions Clubs were also welcomed by bonspiel organizers Bruce and Marilyn Wharram.

The tournament is held in memory of Tammy Wharram and Candace Webb and has become a shining and enjoyable January tradition in Asphodel-Norwood.

Taking top spot in the A Draw was Gord Montgomery's rink of Dorothy Smooker and Colleen and John Terpstra. Placing second was the team of Christie Wood, Richard Wood, Cheryl Watson and Martin Tempelman.

Claiming top honours in the B Draw was Bryan Wilson's team of Sherry Wilson, Darryl Dafeo and Christine McCullins. Capturing second place in this draw was the rink of Helen Mendum, Gerry Murison, Sylvia Hall and Suzanne Liptay.

If you would like to make a donation to the Curl For Kids, Camp Oochigeas fund, you can call the Wharrams at 696-2157.

For Spring & Summer Brides

"Do's and don'ts" on the care of fine jewellery

(NC)-The jewellery experts are pleased to offer the following "do's and don'ts" on the care and cleaning of fine jewellery ...

* Do clean fine jewellery often to maintain its sparkle and beauty. All fine jewellery can be safely cleaned by soaking for 10 minutes in warm soapy water (using a non-detergent soap). Use a soft toothbrush on harder gems to loosen any dirt around the prongs. Rinse well and dry on a soft towel. To reduce greasy buildup on diamond jewellery, dip it in plain alcohol or vodka before soaking.

* Don't use toothpaste to clean jewellery. The abrasives can damage softer gems and metals.

* Don't heap jewellery into a drawer. Wrap it in tissue paper and place it in a small plastic bag or pouch.

* Do take your jewellery to be checked for loose claws, clasps and signs of wear.

* Don't wear fine jewellery when doing sports, housework, gardening - or even showering. Although you may think a diamond is durable, a hard blow can chip it.

* Don't let your diamond jewellery come in contact with strong chlorine bleach.

It can pit or discolour the metal.

* Special cloths for polishing gold can be purchased at your local jeweller. While these cloths are effective, they should be used infrequently, or only for particularly stubborn stains or marks.

Do try these 3 ways to clean your diamonds ...

1. Purchase a liquid jewellery kit and be sure to read the instructions before using.

2. Make a half-and-half solution of cold water and household ammonia in a cup. Soak for 30 minutes and gently brush. Rinse under running water and pat dry.

3. Before soaking, dip jewellery in plain alcohol or vodka to reduce greasy buildup.

Special care for your pearls ...

1. Put on your pearls after applying cosmetics, hairsprays and perfume as these can harm their lustre.

2. Bring your pearls to your jeweller for restringing every two years, or annually with frequent wear. Make sure that the string is knotted between each pearl, which will prevent pearls from rubbing together or out from falling off should a break occur.

3. To clean your pearls, use a very mild soap and water solution and brush with a very soft brush. Never use ultrasonic cleaners, all chemicals and abrasives, e.g. toothpaste.

The Wedding Guide

Favourite wedding traditions from the past to the present

The first marriages were by capture, i.e., the groom would kidnap the woman, and take her away from her tribe with the help of a warrior friend, his best man, who would help him fight off other men who wanted this woman, and also help him prevent her family from finding them: The groom would put himself and his bride into hiding, the honeymoon, and by the time the bride's family found them, the bride would already be pregnant. When the groom fought off other warriors who also wanted his bride, he would hold onto her with his left hand, while fighting them off with his sword in his right hand,

Although the above was common, marriage by purchase was preferred. Usually the bride would be bartered for land, social status, or political alliances, but sometimes she was exchanged for cash. The Anglo-Saxon word "wed" meant that the groom would vow to marry the woman, but it also meant the money or barter that the groom paid the bride's father. A wedding, then, literally meant the purchase of a bride for breeding purposes. The word wedding comes from a root word meaning to gamble or wager.

There were also arranged marriages, where the groom's family told him who he was to marry, and they very rarely let him see the bride because if he didn't like her looks, he may refuse to marry her: Therefore, the father of the bride gave the bride away to the groom, who lifted the veil to see her for the first time.

The expression "tie the knot" comes from Roman times when the bride wore a girdle that was tied in knots which the groom had the fun of untying.

Diamond engagement rings were given by medieval Italians, because of their belief that the diamond was created from the flames of love.

Ancient Spartan soldiers were the first to hold stag parties. The groom would feast with his male friends on the night before the wedding. There he would say goodbye to the carefree days of bachelorhood and swear continued allegiance to his comrades.

Bridal showers were also meant to strengthen the friendships between the bride and her friends, give her moral support, and help her prepare for her marriage. The idea to give gifts is fairly new, dating from the 1890's. At one shower, the bride's friend placed small gifts inside a Japanese parasol, and then opened it over the bride's head so all of the presents would "shower" over her. When word of this hit the fashion pages, people were so charmed, they decided to do the same at their showers.

The bridal party has many origins, one of which comes from the Anglo Saxon days. When the groom was about to capture his bride, he needed the help of his friends, the "bridesmen" or "brideknights". They would make sure the bride got to the church and to the groom's house afterwards. The bride also had women to help her, the "bridesmaids" or "brideswomen".

The white wedding dress was made popular by Anne of Brittany in 1499. Before that, a woman just wore her best dress. In biblical days, blue (not white) represented purity, and the bride and groom would wear a blue band around the bottom of their wedding attire, hence something blue.

In the 14th century, it was customary for the bride to toss her garter to the men, but sometimes the men got too drunk, and would become impatient and try to take the garter off her ahead of time. It got to be less trouble for her just to toss the bridal bouquet.

It is unknown when wedding rings were first worn. They were probably made of a strong metal, like iron so that it wouldn't break easily which would have been a very bad omen. The ancient Romans believed that the vein in the third finger ran directly to the heart, so wearing the ring on that finger joined the couples hearts and destiny.

Wedding just wouldn't be complete without fertility symbols, like the wedding cake. Ancient Romans would bake a cake made of wheat or barley and break it over the bride's head as a symbol of her fertility. It became tradition to pile up several small cakes, one on top of the other, as high as they could, and the bride and groom would kiss over the tower and try not to knock it down. If they were successful, it meant a lifetime of prosperity. During the reign of King Charles II of England, it became customary to turn this cake into an enjoyably edible palace, iced with white sugar.

Tying shoes to the bumper of the car represents the symbolism and power of shoes in ancient times. Egyptians would exchange sandals when they exchanged goods, so when the father of the bride gave his daughter to the groom, he would also give the brides sandals to show that she now belonged to the groom. In Anglo Saxon times, the groom would tap the heel of the bride's shoe to show his authority over her. In later times, people would throw shoes at the couple, and now we just tie shoes to their car.

Once married, remembering Valentines Day is a requirement. But who was St. Valentine? One story is that during the days of Emperor Claudius, war was raging, and Claudius thought that bachelor soldiers would fight harder so he outlawed marriage, so St. Valentine, a priest, would marry people secretly. Another story says that Valentine was a christian who refused to worship pagan gods and was imprisoned. During this time, he made friends with the jailer's blind daughter and cured her through prayer. When he was executed, on February 14, he left a note for her signed, "your Valentine". ## Novice B Hornets tangle with Otonabee Wolves

Asphodel-Norwood - The Otonabee Wolves visited the Novice B Hornets with the visitors taking a 1-0 win during a very evenly-matched contest. Hornets goalie Zack Aker kept the team in the game with some very solid netminding but the offence was thwarted by the Wolves.

The two teams met for a re-match in Keene Monday. The game started with the Wolves dominating the first half and building up a 2-0 lead. The Wolves pressed the Hornets in their own end for much of the first two periods. It was hard work and perseverance that allowed Joey Giacalone to break away and score for Norwood.

The Wolves would score one more before Luke Duffy banged in a rebound off a Mitchell Klompmaker shot. The clock would run out just as the Hornets had caught their second wind.

Sunday, the Hornets were home to the Lakefield Chiefs. Norwood plays strong positional play with plenty of great passing and defence with defender Giacalone scoring one of the team's two goals from the blue line. The second goal went to Colin Elmhirst. The team would preserve the shutout for Aker.

Hornets buzz: Three cheers to team support staff Dave Bolton, coach; Tim Klompmaker, assistant coach; trainer Paul Stinson and assistant trainer Ernie Duffy. You come to the game with the attitude of mentoring, encouraging and the players have a lot of fun and the parents thank you for listening to their "constructive?" criticism...The Hornets are sharpening their skills for their Feb. 16 tourney.

Sr. Hornets win

Asphodel-Norwood - On Jan. 11 the Birdsall Beach/Norwood Auto Centre Sr. Tyke Hornets travelled to Have-lock. The Hornets took the ice with intensity and kept it going for 30 minutes. In the end they were able to skate away with a 5-1 win.

The highlight of this game was Jamie Wiley's first career goal as a Hornet. Congratulations, Jamie.

Rounding out the scoring with goals or assists were Evan Calder, David Moore, Kevan McDougall and Matthew George.

On Sunday, the Hornets were back at home against the Ennismore Eagles. The Hornets have improved their defensive play the last couple of weeks with the five blueliners -- Ryan Rudd, Jamie Wiley, Tyler Carr, Jessie Stinson and Emma Hughes -- honing their positional play and aggressive checking.

With this strong defensive team play (and making the big save when necessary), goalie Cameron Klompmaker was able to get his first career shutout on an 8-0 win. Well done, Cameron and well done team.

On the scoresheet in this game were Kevan and Ethan McDougall, Samuel Gerow, Tyler Carr, Calder and George, who also had an opportunity to view the game from a short bench on the other side of the ice for two minutes.

Hornets reach final

effect on the Hornets who lost Baron McDonald who was felled by an injury and could not play in the title match against Gananogue who would win the game 4-1.

Scoring the lone Norwood goals was Chris Ridgeway with an unassisted effort.

Hornets buzz: With McDonald still out of the line-up, the Hornets hosted the Otonabee Wolves in exhibition play. It was an evenly-matched game with the teams settling for a 2-2 draw. Scoring for Norwood were Ronnie Hughes and Brad Walsh with assists to Tyler McIlmoyle and Jeb Huggins. Firing in a pair for the Wolves was Chris Bryon.

Riders frequently ask me the best place for a snowmobiling vacation in Canada. Here, from west to east, are some of my favourites from last year, selected for their great riding, friendly hospitality, reliable snow, accessible services and minimal traffic.

Revelstoke, B.C.: Numerous staging areas lead to a good variety of superior mountain riding opportunities, enough to fill a week with new adventures each day. Best Feature: Highest average annual snowfall in North America. Fair Warning: Like other mountain destinations, a low ceiling with poor visibility can temporarily curtail riding. Best Time: March/April. Best Lodging: Peak's Lodge. Contact: revelstoke.bc.ca/snow

Crowsnest Pass, Alberta: Mountain climbing, powder playing, and extensive trail riding make this the "Yellowstone" of Canada. A great destination suitable for every riding style and level of experience. Best Feature: 1,200 kms of groomed trails, rideable even when the higher peaks are socked in. Fair Warning: Connecting B.C. trails can be brutally rough. Best Time: March/April. Best Lodging: Best Canadian Hotel. Contact: edo@crowsnestpass.com

Eastern Saskatchewan/Western Manitoba: A multitude of groomed trails through woodlands, scenic river valleys and rolling hill country straddling the provincial border. This isn't the flat prairie riding you might expect! Best Feature: Lots of wildlife. Fair Warning: Prairie drifting can obliterate trails in open areas. Best Time:

February. Best Lodging: Duck Mountain Lodge. Contact: travellmanitoba.com or sasktourism.com/central

Algoma Country, Ontario: Located directly north of Lake Huron between Sault Ste. Marie and Spanish, this region offers Canadian Shield riding with abundant snow and well-groomed, mainly land-based trails. Best Feature: Lots of old logging roads groomed into snow highways. Fair Warning: Stay on the picket line for all of the North Channel ice crossings. Best Time: Late February/early March. Best Lodging: Denison House, Elliot Lake. Contact: info@algomacountry.com

The Gaspé: Canada's most scenic groomed trails, with breathtaking views of the St. Lawrence and the Atlantic. I recommend doing the coastal loop counter-clockwise. Best

Feature: Trails 595 & 597 through the interior mountains. Fair Warning: High velocity winds can cause serious drifting and blowing snow on coastal trails. Best Time: March. Best Lodging: Hotels that are members of the Gaspé/Acadie tour. Contact: rioteil@quebecitel.com

Northern New Brunswick: If you like Quebec's Laurentians, then you'll love these rolling Appalachian hills, where the trails are wider and far less crowded. Don't miss the Acadian Peninsula or Mont Carleton! Best Feature: Bridged water crossings allow interior riding well into April. Fair Warning: Get local maps to discover all their trails. Best Time: March/April. Best Lodging: Atlantic Host. nbtourism@gov.nb.ca

There are many destinations, memories too. Northeast, the and the Grey- there are oodles the winter snowmobile club deliver outstanding riding plenty time remember. Rider this w condition ofisc on.ca.

Kids' Playhouse performing arts series for children presents Jack Grunsky and his Chigo Chigo Band

Belleville - One of Canada's finest children's performers will open the tenth Kids' Playhouse Performing arts Series for Children on Sunday January 27, 2002 at Centennial Secondary School auditorium in Belleville.

Since 1983, Jack Grunsky's name has been synonymous with excellence in children's recording and performance throughout Canada and the U.S. His eight CDs have received all the most prestigious awards in children's media, including two Juno Awards, several U.S. Parent's Choice Gold Awards, multiple placements on the American Library Association's Notable Recording lists, and a Parent's Guide to Children's Media Award. Jack and his Chigo Chigo Band have performed in concert halls, classrooms, and at educational conferences throughout North America.

Jack Grunsky was born in Austria and moved to Canada as a child, where he grew up in a very musical family. Both his parents were music educators and his Dad played cello with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra. He pursued his interests in music throughout his school years. After high school, he went back to Austria to study at the Academy of Arts in Vienna. While in Europe, Jack became a major contributor to the Central European music scene as a singer/songwriter and interpreter of Anglo-American folk music. He is credited with ushering in the "folk music wave" to Central European audiences and was the subject of a feature article in Germany's Der Spiegel (equivalent to Time magazine).

In the late '70s, Jack moved back to his adopted homeland where he began singing children's music and developed and conducted music education programmes throughout Ontario. Jack's unique multicultural approach to music for young listeners and their families incorporates authentic instruments, rhythms, melodies and arrangements that evoke, introduce, and emulate music from around the world. Jack Grunsky is a constant, creative force in children's music and he provides and environment for making children feel good about themselves.

Be ready to clap, jiggle, sway, and sing along with Jack Grunsky and his Chigo Chigo Band!

The series will continue on Sunday, March 3, with Creole Drumming, a celebration of Caribbean, Latin American, and African festivities! These talented percussionists fuse popular and contemporary songs with traditional African and Caribbean drumming in an energetic and upbeat performance. With emphasis on audience participation and the use of popular and contemporary songs, this ensemble demonstrates a variety of traditional percussive instruments (i.e. the djembes, bembes, congas, balafones, and steel pan).

Then on Sunday, March

24, (just in time for Easter!), audiences will enjoy the Velveteen Rabbit with Ballet Jorgen. Against a beautifully designed set, six classically trained dancers animate this well-known story of a young boy and his love for a toy rabbit that eventually comes to life. Ballet Jorgen tours annually across Canada and internationally, and was recognized in 1996 with the Lieutenant Governor's Award for the Arts.

All performances are on Sundays at 2:30 p.m. at Centennial Secondary School auditorium 160 Palmer Road in Belleville.

They will have a very special host, Andy Forgie, one of Quinte's most popular performers, to help us celbrate this, their 10th successful season!

Series tickets (all three shows) are $60 for a family of four or $20 for an individual series. Single tickets are $8 each.

Tickets can be purchased at The Quinte Arts Council Box Office, 36 Bridge Street East, Belleville. To order by phone, call 962-1309. The box office is open Monday to Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. There is no service charge.

Kid's Playhouse is sponsored by Procter & Gamble and McDonald's Belleville and receives financial assistance from the Province of Ontario through the Ontario Arts Council.

January 11, the old abandoned CN Station in Stirling looks very forlorn, looking like the perfect site for a murder mystery weekend.

Be prepared for Health Unit phone survey this month

Hastings and Prince Edward Counties - Telephone surveys and good health may not be closely connected in most people's minds. For the Hastings & Prince Edward Counties Health Unit, however, a link exists.

The Health Unit will become one of 15 across the province participating in the Rapid Risk Factor Surveillance System (RRFSS). The system began in 1999 as a telephone survey pilot project. Its success as a means of collecting, local information to aid in planning programmes and services, led to its expansion.

Beginning this month and continuing every month this year, 100 local residents will be randomly selected. Different people will be contacted each month. They will be asked to participate in a telephone survey of approximately 20 minutes duration with approximately 100 questions.

Questions deal with lifestyle behaviours that may have an effect on health.

Topic include heart disease and cancer risk factors, immunization, women's health issues, and reproductive health among others.

"We realize that the telephone has become a demanding presence in many people's busy lives," says Dr. Lynn Noseworthy, Medical Officer of Health. "But given the pressures on our health system, we hope the public will help us help them through these surveys. Of course, participation is voluntary."

Noseworthy says statistical information collected on a province-wide basis is often to long in coming to be of use. The work of RRFSS gives the area's approximately 150,000 residents a better voice in health planning, she says. Results from RRFSS also provide a picture of how the Health Unit statistics compare with others around the province.

RRFSS is administered by the Institute of Social Research at York University on behalf of the health Unit. RRFSS activities are coordinated by a group with membership from all participating health units. "The group collectively develops the questions to be asked, collaborates with ISR and develops data analysis methods," says Stephanie McFaul, epidemiologist at the Health Unit.

Madoc Nursery School and Daycare opens in new location

On Friday, January 4th, the Madoc Nursery School and Daycare was officially opened at its new location at 109 Elgin Street right between Madoc Public School and Centre Hastings Secondary School. The opening was attended by the previous owner of the property, Mr. Jim Keller, civic officials, Reeve Tom Deline, Councillor Crichton Harrop as well as interested citizens.

The Madoc Nursery School and Daycare was founded by a group of concerned parents and other citizens in 1989. It is designed with the goal that, with the co-operation of parents, the children will be raised to be creative and responsible people.

The programmes which are offered at the Madoc Nursery School and Daycare are designed to dovetail with those offered by the Hastings Prince Edward District School Board. The daycare provides a head start for children prior to going into Junior Kindergarten and Senior Kindergarten, and offers care and support for children on alternating days when they are not attending public schools.

One of its important services is to provide childcare for the children of students who have decided to return to school to finish their secondary school diplomas.

At this new location the Madoc Nursery School and Daycare has expanded facilities for up to 24 childcare places and six staff. Four of the six staff will have their Early Childhood Education Certificates and the primary responsibility for the children's care, educational programming and delivery. The children range in age from six weeks to six years. There is a before-school and after-school programme for children up to nine years of age.

The Madoc Nursery School and Daycare was officially opened at its new location from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. five days a week. For further information please contact Bonnie Crawford at 473-5261. Or you may write to Madoc Nursery School and Daycare (attention Bonnie Crawford), Box 213, Madoc, ON, K0K 2K0.

Centre Hastings Reeve, Tom Deline and councillor Crichton Harrop represent the municipality at the Madoc Nursery School and Daycare January 4. The Nursery School is now located in a new location at between the Madoc Public School and Centre Hastings Secondary School.

Madoc School of Dance Arts ready to begin new season

The Madoc School of Dance Arts is beginning a new season of lessons many areas of dance ranging from classical ballet to Hip Hop.

Right now the dance studio is asking people who are interested in the fun and joy of dance as well as in the fitness benefits to phone and register for the coming season. There are classes for adults like the ballet class for adults which began on Tuesday the 22nd. There is also no time like the present to get your little ones interested in dance. The Madoc School of Dance Arts offers classes for children as young as three years of age.

Instructor Linda Grey is very excited about upcoming events at the school. The Studio is associated with the British Association of Teachers of Dancing. In May, the School is awaiting the arrival of an examiner from England who will grade the dancers ready at that time.

Also a competitive team from the School will be heading to Ottawa and Toronto in April and May.

But there is action on the home front in Madoc as well, and Linda, daughter Nicole (also an instructor at the School), and the students are practising their routines for the dance recital which is scheduled for June 1st. It will take place in Central Hastings

High School. It is open to the public, and the dancers would love your support. You will have a great time as well.

The Madoc School of Dance Arts offers many types of dance styles, but also offers other classes, such as yoga, Tai Chi, and Mitzvah techniques.

By the way, the Dance School is looking for ballroom dancing instructors. So if your rumba, tango, samba, and chacha skills are polished and waiting to be used to teach others the skills of ballroom dancing, get in touch with Linda Grey or Nicole Grey at (613) 473-4696.

Classes for all ages

Arrest Warrant Issued for Marmora Man

An arrest warrant had been issued for Paul Russell Fitzpatrick (30) formerly of Marmora. Fitzpatrick has been charged with assault, assault with a weapon, and breach of probation and is currently being sought by Centre Hastings O.P.P.

Fitzpatrick is described as being a white male, with a thin build. He weighs 76 kg (168 lbs) and is 181 cm (5' 11") tall. He has brown hair and brown eyes.

This warrant stems from an incident that occurred in the Municipality of Marmora and Lake on the 22nd of December 2001.

Anyone with information regarding Fitzpatrick's current location is asked to contact Centre Hastings O.P.P.

Centre Hastings man arrested on criminal code offences

In the early morning hours of Friday, January 4, Centre Hastings O.P.P. officers arrested a 39-year-old man for criminal code offences.

The man was also wanted on an outstanding warrant for failure to appear in court as well as breach of probation relating to offences committed in Northumberland

County in 1995.

Dale William Reynolds of Centre Hastings, was turned over to Northumberland O.P.P. custody, and appeared in court the same day in Cobourg Bail Court. Charges against Reynolds stemming from Centre Hastings O.P.P. have been scheduled for Belleville Provincial Court on January 31.

CHSS Students participate in province-wide math test

Ontario continues to focus on improved student learning with last week's start of the second annual province-wide grade nine math test. The tests are used to evaluate the performance of each school board's students against a provincial standard. Janet Ecker, Ontario's Education Minister said that it is important that "we continue to measure how well students are learning the curriculum, so that we can continue to develop strategies to help students succeed. Standardized tests give parents, students, and educators vital information to help determine how to best help students improve."

This is the second year for the province-wide grade nine math test, which is developed by the Education Quality and Accountability Office (EQAO), and agency of the Ontario government.

An estimated 68,000 grade nine students who took math in the first semester will write the test in January. Second semester and full-year students will write the test between May 27, and June 13. CHSS wrote the test last week.

Last year's results show students from the Hastings, Prince Edward District School Board scoring well above provincial standards.

The results for the 2001 math test show that among grade nine students in the academic programme, 59 percent of them scored at or above the provincial standard of acceptability compared to and average of 49 percent provincially. However, CHSS principal Christine Walker is proud to point out that 66 percent of CHSS students scored at or above the provincial standard.

Among the applied students the percentage scoring was lower, however, CHSS students still did better than the provincial average or the board-wide average. 30 percent of the applied students at CHSS recorded scores at or above the provincial standard, while the percentages for the board and for the province were 23 percent and 13 percent respectively.

By comparison, among the Kawartha Pine Ridge grade nine academic students, 45 percent scored at or above the provincial standard while 15 percent of the applied students achieved this standard.

Ecker noted that the province-wide testing has already played an important part in helping students improve in math in the elementary grades. The percentage of English grade three students achieving the equivalent of a level 3 (the provincial standard) or higher in math has increased from 43 per cent in 1997-98, to 61 per cent last year. Ecker said the province expects to see similar improvements in the high schools.

"As students and teachers become more familiar with the new rigorous high school curriculum, we expect to see improvement in grade nine math results," said Ecker.

"Testing allows teachers to work from a base of solid information to help students to fulfill their potential."

Province-wide tests are part of the Ontario government's plan to improve student learning and achievement. Along with the grade nine math test, province-wide standardized tests are also conducted in grades three and six and high school students must complete the grade 10 literacy test to graduate.

Police seek help to locate missing man

Quinte West Police are asking for assistance in locating a 43-year-old man who was reported missing on Tuesday, January 22. Charles Gravelle of Trenton was last seen on January 13 by his wife just before he left to go to a local restaurant to pick up supper.

He left in his 1993 black

GMC Jimmy. This vehicle has the Ontario marker AJWJ776.

He has not been seen or heard from since. A check with family and friends has produced negative results. Anyone who may know the whereabouts of Gravelle is asked to contact the Quinte West Police Service at 392-3535 or 1-888-527-1111.

It's a different world in high school now...

CHSS School Council met at the school on the evening of Tuesday, January 22. Present at the meeting were Chair Ron Fabian, secretary Shirley Lajoie, CHSS principal Christine Walker, Karen Yarrow, Debra Storring, Pat Walsh, Janice Bonter (teacher rep), Bonnie Baker (non-teaching rep), Trevor White (student council rep), and Eric Sandford (community rep).

"It's a different world in high school now," Mrs. Walker told the council. "It's harder and more prescribed. Students have to learn to handle the stress."

Teacher representative Janice Bonter told council that she had been out to the various feeder schools as part of the programme to familiarize grade VIII students with the options prior to registration. Students come to CHSS from public schools in Madoc, Marmora, Tweed, and Stirling.

Invitations are also extended to the Catholic Schools in the area.

although the delegation from CHSS does not make actual visits. The group from Stirling is the smallest of the students from north of Stirling only. The process of introducing students to their new school includes visits by school representatives, a parents night at the high school followed up by a student orientation day, and a special event in May such as a dance to which the grade eight kids are invited.

Ms. Bonter said that she was very encouraged by the interest in music in the public schools which bodes well for the students' further participation in high school. The high school band accompanied Ms. Bonter to the public schools in order to acquaint them with the music resources at CHSS as well as to make the introduction process more entertaining and friendly. "I was encouraged because of the increase in funding for the music programmes in the elementary schools," Ms. Bonter said, commenting on the fact that funding for these programmes had been poor in the recent past.

C.H.S.S. News

The Council discussed the new Safe Schools policy and the "zero tolerance" for violence in the schools. The Safe Schools policy was introduced in the fall to ensure a safe environment for all students. Under this policy, the reasons for suspension and expulsion are more clearly outlined. Mrs. Walker explained that while some expulsions are discretionary and not permanent, others are mandatory now. The mandatory expulsions are for offences which have to do with matters of safety.

"We have had one expulsion," Mrs. Walker said. This was the result of an assault which took place after a dance. The student was expelled until the end of the 1st semester. "It was explained that good behavior was expected of students even when they were not actually on school property."

"Any misdemeanor during the school day is taken into account including any which takes place off school property."

The school council expressed some concern about the fact that there is no permanent O.P.P. presence in the school. Const. Russ Alexander has been removed and his job has been taken over by Const. Darlene Eastman who is in the school three days per week for 3/4 of an hour compared to the former 4day a week almost full day attendance. Council felt Const. Alexander "made a point of getting to know people," and was an effective presence in the school. Ms. Bonter said that "he had kids going to him all the time...that was a good thing."

MINOR HOCKEY REPORT

by Sherri Carman

The Atom team traveled to Tweed recently for an exhibition game. Our Grizzlies took control of this match early on, scoring three goals before the end of the first period. By the end of regulation, C.H. managed to hang home three more to make this one in a 6-3 decision. Grizzly goals came from Andy Moore (hat trick), Cody Wood (2) and Jake Ascott. Earning assists for the team were James Denny, Jake Ascott, Billy McGuire, Scott Robinson, Andy Moore and Harrison Shin. These guys are ready to face off against Frankford in their first round of playoffs. The action gets underway at 2:30pm on Madoc ice. Give 'em heck, Grizzlies!

The Novices played an excellent, hard-fought exhibition game with Frankford on Marmora ice last Sunday. Both teams scored in the first, within a minute of each other. The battle for the puck was fierce right to the end, but neither team found the mark and the one all score stayed. Dylan Adams popped in the breakaway goal, unassisted.

The Bantams began their first round of play-offs with the Frankford Huskies in Marmora last Monday night. It was Grizzly dominated hockey from the first drop of the puck and the match ended in a 6-2 win for our guys. Chad McLean (2), Logan Cassidy, Justin Black (2) and Dave Hughes scored the goals. George Derry, Paul Hainle, Jon McConne (1) and Brennan Vezina chalked up the assists. In game two of this best 3 of 5 series, coaches and parents left the Frankford arena scratching their heads last Friday night. Was this the same group of hockey layers? They lost the match 8-7 but swore redemption as they play game three in Madoc this Friday night at 7:30. Game four will be back in Frankford Saturday at 6pm.

In their last two league games, the Midget Grizzlies skated to a win and a tie against North Frontenac and Tweed. The win was posted against N. Frontenac, final score 6-3. Mark Boyle (2), Josh Leaver, Rob Cunningham (2) and Justin Cassidy all found the net. Goals were passed up by James Black, Rob Reynolds, Justin Cassidy, Riley Andrews, Tyler Gordon, Ryan Johansen and Mike Stein. The 4-4 tie with Tweed treated fans to some exciting hockey! Ryan Johansen, Rob Cunningham, Josh Leaver and Rob Reynolds were responsible for the goals and Rob Cunningham, James Black, Riley Andrews, Rob Reynolds, Justin Cassidy and Mark Boyle earned the assists. This team is also facing off with Frankford in their first round of play-offs. I understand that they are down two games in the best of 5 series, but the games have both been close scored and the team is optimistic going into game 3 Friday night in Madoc at 9pm.

The Pee wee DD are busy with their first round as well, taking on Percy Twp. Game one saw the Grizzlies falling in a 8-4 decision. Game two in Percy was a loss as well and it looked bad for the home team.

Heading into game three, it was do or die and the Grizzlies were up to the challenge! They faced their opponent head on and pulled off a 7-4 victory, forcing game four. Tyson Terrion (hat trick), Jarrod Cassidy, Chad Stein, Anthony Tapper and Brandon Minns scored the goals. Assists were earned by Rob Blakely, Anthony Tapper, Jarrod Cassidy and Colby Bird. Best of luck in game four, Grizzlies!

Just a note: the Juveniles have yet to get a play-off series contracted as they sit in a by situation until February 5.

Economic development succeeds best with unified strategic approach

GPAEDC official talks to Council about goals, challenges

By Bill Freeman

Asphodel-Norwood

"There is nothing harder in economic development than creating your own silo and trying to build alone," says Lance Sherk, Manager of Business Retention and Expansion for the Greater Peterborough Area Economic Development Corporation (GPAEDC).

Mr. Sherk, in his third month on the job for the GPAEDC, spoke to Township Councilors Monday night about some of the goals and challenges he faces.

One of the challenges, and within that a long-term goal, is trying to convince municipalities that a unified approach to economic development and planning will always be the most productive route to take.

"The biggest challenge, at this point," says Mr. Sherk, "is trying to realize the regional focus for economic development in the County. Trying to get people to realize that we're all in this together and we're all working towards the same goal."

That goal, he emphasized, is the "economic health for the whole area and not just for individual communities—that's the biggest challenge."

Mr. Sherk says that when "you look at the nature of business today, it is almost impossible (for municipalities) to develop economic development strategies on their own."

Success in one area fosters growth in another, he said, noting that business growth in Peterborough City, for instance, "creates wealth for everybody."

Along with this, Mr. Sherk says municipalities must not avoid focusing on the strengths that already exist within their own business sectors.

"It is tough to get across that the best economic opportunities to be found in your community are within your community now," he said.

Finding ways to strengthen these businesses is a key part of developing strategies for economic growth, Mr. Sherk added.

"It's the business you have in the community now that you will build your community on."

He said you might be able to bring one or two new businesses into a community over a two or three year period but it is those that exist today that need all the support his office can help provide.

"Those people are the people who put roots into the community; those are the people who believe in your community; those are the people who are going to strive to make this a better community."

Mr. Sherk says it is important that these business people have someone to speak on their behalf "otherwise they feel like they're just fighting an uphill battle."

This is one area that he and the GPAEDC can help businesses grow.

He agreed with Councilor Joe Crowley that people are "so busy running their business that they don't have time (to track down programs that are out there)."

"They need to know

what's out there," said Mr. Crowley.

Mr. Sherk said his role at the GPAEDC stems from the several of key areas identified in the County's business plan, including: communication and partnership building; servicing the agricultural sector; the identification of business development areas in the Townships and introducing local economic development strategies.

"Foremost in my mind," Mr. Sherk said, "is partnership building and communication."

He says he is already attending the monthly CAO-Treasurer's meetings and has met with various business groups and the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Affairs. Mr. Sherk is also working with community groups, with upcoming meetings in Keene, Havelock and Asphodel-Norwood planned.

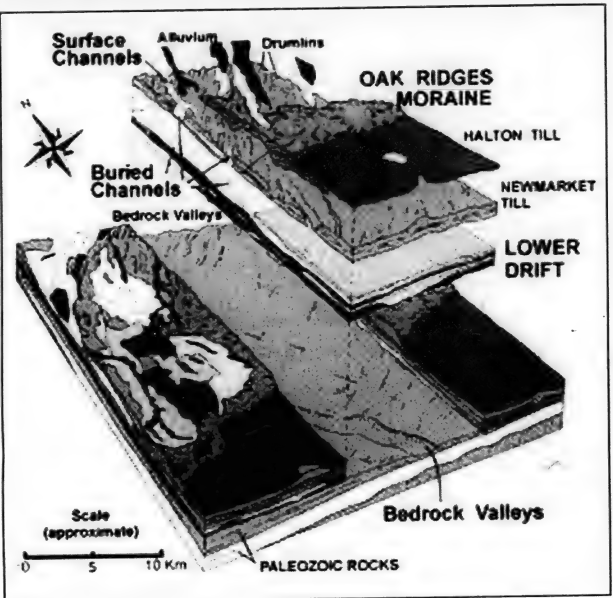

"We're slowly getting there. It is taking us some time to find out how organized the business groups are and trying to get everyone on the same page so we can complete an economic strategy for the County that, at least, looks to (promote) for everybody."

While the term business retention and expansion sparks a "variety of connotations," Mr. Sherk says that in terms of the position "it is a very definable process."

They are putting programs in place that will provide information and data that will help prepare strategic economic development plans for the County and Townships.

"These programs can be structured to focus on specific sectors of the economy (such as tourism, agriculture or manufacturing)," he says.

Ice age leaves a valuable resource in Oak Moraine, says Service Club speaker

By Rolly Ethier

Warkworth—Millions of years ago Warkworth, and what is now known as the Trent Hills area, featured almost tropical weather conditions.

Then geology research tells us that some 20,000 years ago the Laurentide ice sheet had descended and the same area was buried under tons of ice.

But 6,500 years later, says geologist Michael Kerr, the ice began melting and dramatic changes occurred again. Kerr, a geologist and an elementary school teacher in Cobourg, delivered a fascinating presentation as guest speaker at the Jan. 17th Warkworth Community Service Club dinner meeting at St. Paul's United Church.

Kerr is currently taking his Masters in topography, studying environmental issues dealing with the Warkworth region.

The speaker pointed out that it was about the same time the ice began pulling apart as a result of moderating temperatures that the formation of the Oak Ridges Moraine occurred. The Moraine, which includes Warkworth at its extreme eastern edge, is now the crucial recharge area for most of Ontario's groundwater system and considered a valuable resource that cries out for environmental protection.

Then The Floods

As the evolution continued, Kerr noted, the Warkworth area was flooded with the water eventually receding to form what is now Lake Ontario. The Moraine is a provincial legacy from the hydrogeological transition. It is already the source of drinking water for more than 200,000 people north of Greater Toronto. While the groundwater quality in the Oak Ridges Moraine Aquifer system is generally good to excellent, sources say, the upper aquifers are unconfined and at risk to contamination from existing and future intensive land uses in the Moraine.

Also receiving extensive attention in Kerr's presentation were the drumlins, which were also formed in large numbers as a result of the melting ice following the Ice Age. Drumlins are small, teardrop-shaped hills formed as debris piled up and were sculpted by the ice sheets themselves, and the flowing water. Experts say when the water began to melt the water broke through and flowed in torrents down to the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean.

One geologist claims one large drumlin field in Saskatchewan was created when 84,000 cubic kilometres of water was discharged. Just this single episode would have raised global sea levels by about 10 inches in a matter of a few days or weeks.

One of the most significant drumlin areas in North America is located along the

Gardening topic for Seymour ladies

By Lois Brown

Shirley Little hosted a meeting of the Seymour West Women's Institute and was pleased to welcome four visitors.

The roll call "A Hint For Wintering Plants" was answered some of the following ideas: pull geraniums and hang them upside down in the cellar; store dahlia toes in peat moss; when repotting slips, put a bit of newspaper over hole in pot; add a little pine cone; fill with soil and sprinkle a little cedar oil on top to prevent aphids.

The business portion was dealt with and a motion to donate money towards replacement of wheelchairs at the hospital was accepted.

Grace Wynn, Curator, had three more pages to add to the Tweedsmuir histories. She also gave a report from the district executive meeting. Members were asked for input regarding 4H scholarships and ideas for a craft course.

Gayle Fox welcomed guest speaker Glen Bennett. He and his wife Lois are Master Gardeners and well known for their work with the Campbellford/Seymour Horticultural Society.

Glen warned of the many insects that may come inside with your plants in the fall and suggested using sprays such as Malathion or Troncare.

Flowers serve more purpose in your home than just beautification, said Glen, as they purify the air. The palm, rubber plant, Boston fern, spider plant, Christmas cactus are a few good examples. He also demonstrated several ways to propagate new plants. With a begonia, for instance, cut across the veins of the leaf several times, lay flat on a bed of vermiculite, weighing down edges lightly and keep moist. New plants will develop at the cut areas.

Ice age leaves Ontario

Lake Ontario shoreline in New York state. As part of his research, said Kerr, he rented a boat in Oswego, N.Y. and spent several weeks investigating the bluffs, taking photographs of the deposits formed by millions of years of geological history.

Kerr noticed subdivisions perched precariously along the bluffs along the shoreline, homes facing disaster as the edge erodes approximately six to 10 feet a year.

Using geology, and the drumlin origin, to discover how our world was formed in the ancient past is fascinating stuff, said Kerr, motivating him to conduct presentations on the subject whenever the opportunity arises.

Drumlins remain something of a mystery in glacial geomorphology as no satisfactory explanation to the mode of their origin exists. There are two schools of thought on their origin. Some believe drumlins are actually erosional features where the material surrounding the drumlins was removed during glaciation.

Catastrophic Flooding

The other theory is based on catastrophic flooding beneath glaciers. Some glaciers have been shown to exhibit episodes of extreme melting. It is thought that torrents of melt water between the glacier and its bed could deposit sand and gravel in a stratified (layered) fashion. While some drumlins do show this sedimentology, many do not. So the controversy rages on in the geological community.

Two of the largest drumlin fields in southern Ontario are located in the Peterborough area, north of Keene, and in Guelph. The Peterborough drumlin field is one of the largest and most spectacular in the world. The Guelph field is larger than many, containing over 300 drumlins.

The Intrepid Snowmobiler

By Craig Nicholson

©2001 by Craig Nicholson. All rights reserved.

More and more snowmobilers are riding away from home after snowmobiling 15,000 kilometres (about 10,000 miles) last winter. I know the ideal touring conditions that make me thoroughly enjoy the experience and come back for more.

I want lots of signs. In fact, if it came down to it, I'd choose signing over grooming, since I know exactly where I am on a bumpy trail beats being lost interminably on a smooth one. Confidence starts with an accurate trail map, well-synchronized with the actual trails on the snow. The same numbers and colour codes on each, with frequent "reassurance" markers along each trail. Don't confuse me with old markers denoting some out-of-use trail designation, or by placing both main and local numbers on the same trail! At every intersection, I expect at least two signs at each trail mouth: a number and the destination to which it leads. Another confirming trail marker about 100 yards down each trail is most welcome. Each major junction should sport a large signboard with "You Are Here" marked on the same map I have in my pocket. Ads from local services with their location denoted on the map face are appreciated. Much guesswork can be removed if each junction is also numbered both on the map and on the snow.

I expect any detours to be well-marked. It's a plus if these changes are also posted at nearby service facilities so I have an opportunity to choose an alternate route. I like road names placed under the STOP signs at road crossings, and enough stakes in fields and on lakes so that I won't get lost in a whiteout or when the trail has been obliterated by snow. Groomed ditches or a strip of snow left along a roadside trail say that someone really cares. Finally, after long straightaways, my heart would be grateful for Stop Ahead or Upcoming Corner signs being placed much further out. And what about consistent signing from region to region? This means not only having signs in place and having the same ones, but also using them to convey the same message every time. Surely there are signage manuals to encourage uniformity, but I still experience too many insufficient spaces between Stop Ahead and Stop signs, chevrons used improperly, stake lines that keep me to the right and then to the left, confusing intersections and unmarked corners. Meanwhile, I cringe whenever I see a groomer wasting its time flattening snow in days when it isn't cold enough to set or heavy traffic volume will destroy the surface quickly anyway.

For hospitality services, my priority is parking, security and direct trail access. And don't forget about trail signs so I can find you! Lodging amenities are nice, but I'd rather have on-site restaurant, gas and convenience store, all with extended hours. And staff familiar with local conditions who can give me accurate directions. With reliable snow, good grooming and adequate fuel access, I could be in seventh heaven! That's not asking too much, is it? Until next time remember that snowmobilers care about the environment too. For trail condition reports check ofsc.on.ca.

Over 45,000 Canadians die each year from smoking.

That's more than 45,000 reasons to get tough on tobacco.

45,000 Canadians. That's five times the number of people who die from car accidents, murder, suicides and alcohol abuse combined.

What's even more tragic is every tobacco-related sickness and death could have been prevented. Smoking is Canada's #1 preventable health problem.

Over 45,000 deaths a year is unacceptable. It has to stop.

The Government of Canada is taking strong action to address Canada's #1 preventable public health problem. Over the next five years, we will invest $530 million to reduce smoking in Canada.

Health Canada has a simple, three-part plan:

- Keep young Canadians from starting
- Help more smokers quit
- Raise awareness of the dangers of second-hand smoke

Our plan goes beyond just providing information. It offers real solutions. For real results. And whether you smoke or not, you can be part of the solution.

GPAEDC helps develop local economic strategies

From these various sectors, he says they can produce a comprehensive data base and "we can continue to provide strategies to address" issues in the Townships.

"This is just one tool we can utilize to prove the necessary information to develop a strategic economic development plan -- initially for the County as a whole, then for each of the Townships."

Mr. Sherk says his office can also "facilitate and implement" programs that are already available in the Townships.

Secondarily, his function would be to "ensure a certain level of consistency in these programs throughout the County."

Mr. Sherk says he has already been participating in the Official Plan amendment process at both the County and Township level.

This, he admits, "has proved to be quite a challenge."

He is also available to act as a go-between on issues that might arise between business sectors such as waterfront operations and tourism.

As well, Mr. Sherk reminded Council that he was the "conduit for information moving back and forth between the Townships and the GPAEDC and businesses and the municipalities."

"What I would like Councils to remember is we are the economic staff for both the County and Townships. Don't be afraid to use it as such."

"I know this is going to be a bit of a hurdle to overcome. That's the role I planned for -- to be your economic development officer."

Mr. Sherk says he will be attending an QMAFRA-sponsored "Mainstreets" meeting.

"Havelock and Norwood are two areas we are looking hard at for mainstreets redevelopment," he said. "I believe we have to get information from the community -- people on the ground, people conducting business in the community -- before we can begin to put together a strategy (you can use to address issues)."

But this is something they will not be able to do in a month or two, he admitted.

Getting municipalities to set aside some of their rivalries and "getting those involved to sit down at the table and talk to each other" about shared economic concerns, is another long-term goal Mr. Sherk says he hopes to achieve.

"There are some built-in biases that we have to overcome. There's intransigence that could take some time to get over. But if you get two or three municipalities thinking the same way then you try to build onto that."

Mr. Crowley wondered if the GPAEDC had been approached to help municipality's "enhance their web pages on economic development" so that internet visitors could learn more about local opportunities and make necessary connections.

He said municipalities have to have active, promotional websites that "say they are open for business."

Mr. Sherk agreed, noting that the GPAEDC is using its own website to focus on economic development opportunities trying "to pull each of the Townships to one end."

"That is why it is important to get out into the Townships to find out how organized businesses are so we can have this information and put these website files together."

There are three staff working on files, he added.

"This is an interesting proceeding point but it will everybody's website."

Mr. Crowley strongly about Sherk's department GPAEDC is doing that he felt in municipalities are attempts of not having a department 20 years

Deputy-Rex Turner said Aswood wants to be regional focus advocates.

Council is an part of the process to be what doing, Mrs. Turner

"The community as healthy as it sector. They need port," added Te

News from the Cooper Wild Kids hockey team

The Cooper Wild Kids Atom Girls Hockey Team has been experiencing some growing pains over the past week. The OWHHA (Ontario Womens Hockey Association) has decided that the Cooper Wild Kids should be moved to the next category up from a C division to a B division.

The move has not come as a complete surprise, because our girls have been doing so well this year, but we do strongly disagree. We have put in an appeal and we will find out over the next week if our appeal is granted - we will keep you posted.

Our girls have done very well this year and we expect that they will continue to do so, either in the B or C category. Unfortunately, our last three scheduled games have had to be cancelled. We hope things will be back on track soon.

Thank you to everyone who has come out and supported our girls hockey team. Your support is greatly appreciated.

The Cooper Winter Carnival is on this weekend, and there are a few people who need to be thanked for all of their help in making this year's Carnival possible. Special thanks to Mark and Tammy Graham, Paul and Margie Hagerman, David and Lisa Graham for all their on the Poker Run trail, as well as all the landowners and community members who have supported this year's Carnival. Without your support this event would not be possible. Also, thanks to the Cooper-Remington Womens Institute for providing the roast beef supper.

The next home game for the Cooper Wild Kids in Sunday, February 3, at the Madoc arena against Cobourg. Hope to see you there.

The following games for the Cooper Wildkids Atom Girls Hockey team will all take place at the Madoc Arena at 5 p.m. except where noted:

Wednesday, January 30 against Cobourg B Team (8 p.m.), Sunday February 3 against Cobourg, Sunday February 10th against Lindsay, Sunday, February 24 against Oshawa, Sunday, March 3rd against Peterborough.
